Farm Advisor For County Assembles Figures to Be Used In Campaign

WITH THE tariff commission of the United States reported to be considering a revision on the rates for walnuts, growers and officials in the marketing organizations of Orange county and Southern California today were preparing to take steps to place the facts regarding the industry before the commission on January 26 in a determined attempt to prevent the advocates of free trade and lower tariff from bringing about a possible reduction in the import duties.

Throughout Southern California facts and figures showing the cost of producing walnuts here in competition with foreign production were being assembled today and it was announced that C. C. Teague, president of the California Walnut Growers' association, or C. Thorpe, general manager of the organization, would go to Washington to place before the commission the situation in walnut producing areas in California and Oregon as well.

According to A. W. Christie, field representative of the California Walnut Growers' association, it is feared that the opponents of tariff might succeed in bringing about a reduction or even the entire elimination of the walnut tariff unless the industry here makes a determined stand against such a drastic move. Maintaining, or even increasing, the present rates will be advocated by the California representative in Washington.

Congress is scheduled to take up the matter of general tariff revision.

ACTION IS PUT OFF ON TWO MEASURES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(INS)—The senate this afternoon postponed formal consideration of both the Kellogg anti-war treaty and the administration's $270,000,000 cruiser bill until after the Christmas holidays.

An unanimous consent agreement, making both the naval bill and the peace treaty the senate's "unfinished business" on January third was adopted. This postponed until the new year a decision on which measure shall be considered first.

Chief Executive Sought By Lonely Arkansas Wife Pining For Love

By LAWRENCE MONFORT
I.N.S. Special Correspondent
SACRAMENTO, Dec. 20.—"Greater love hath no man than this—that a man lay down his life for his friend."

And greater love hath no woman than that of a desperately poor Arkansas wife, faithful through tragedy, constant through more than a decade of lonely years who today asked Governor Young's aid in getting her message of devotion to self-exiled George C. Curtis, once of Helena, Ark. Curtis now is somewhere in California, she believes.

Her prayer from the heart echoed over the clamor of pre-Christmas bustle as she asked the executive's aid, in default of funds, to secure publication of her declaration of love of the kind that never dies to her man. Ignoring past wrongs, bridging a separation dating back to a tragedy veiled by years since the Great war, her note pinned with faith in a governor's power to do all things, speaks only the elemental, universal language of love.

Linked with it is the prayer of two little girls for the safety and return of a father who disappeared from the family home under a cloud he has not yet returned to dissipate.

"George, I love you. I want, want, want you. If you will write to me and explain everything and trust me and write to me again I pray to God to strike me dead if I tell I have heard from you," the message reads.

"I can help you more than I have and if you will only let me know where you are, I will come to you. Never in my past troubles have I suffered as I now am suffering. My heart is hurting."

"I comforted you in your sickness and now I am sick and hungry—for love."

"You did not go to France—no, but where did you go?"

"We need you and love you dearly. God loves and forgives you and so do we. George, I need you, (Signed) "Freddie."

RADIO PERMIT MAY BE DENIED UTILITY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(UP)—The Richmond Development company argued before the federal radio commission today again its case for extension of its construction permit, denied by the commission last month.

The case involves the question of whether a public service company may properly operate a radio station.

At the last hearing, Commissioner Robinson expressed doubt as to whether the corporation's charter authorized it to broadcast since it is closely affiliated with the Roanoke Waterworks company, a public utility.

Government Hopes To Arrest Leader Of Big Dope Ring

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(INS)—By arresting a single man, the government today hoped to lay bare the globe-circling drug ring supposedly financed by the slain Arnold Rothstein and credited with smuggling $50,000,000 worth of heroin, morphine and cocaine into New York since May.

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 20.—(UP)—Fearing his fiancée, whom he was to marry today, was "too beautiful and too good" for him, Everett Mugler, a prominent paper manufacturer and clubman, committed suicide last night.

Mugler, highly respected business man, was to have been married today to Miss Elizabeth Abbott, a member of one of the oldest and wealthiest families in Buffalo. The wedding was to have been one of the events of the Christmas social season.

HOOVER PLANS FOR VISIT IN MIAMI BEACH

Accepts Invitation to Use J. C. Penney Home After Return to States

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(INS)—President-elect Herbert Hoover plans "a protracted stay" at Miami Beach, Fla., upon his return from his South American cruise about Jan. 7, it was learned here today.

Mr. Hoover has accepted the offer of J. C. Penney chain store magnate to occupy his palatial residence on Belle Isle which connects with the beach via a causeway. The adjoining residence of Joseph Adams, an oil man, will be used for offices.

Mr. Hoover is anxious to reach Key West, Florida, on January fifth or sixth at the latest. He is faced with the mountainous task of familiarizing himself with hundreds of administrative details and wishes to have as much time as possible for that purpose before he takes over the executive helm.

For this reason, it is probable that the three day visit originally planned for Rio de Janeiro will be adhered to. The Utah will reach the Brazilian capital tomorrow and leave Monday morning or afternoon.

While the Utah plowed northward through rolling seas, every one aboard, from Mr. Hoover to the enlisted seaman making his first long voyage, was preparing for a shipboard Christmas eve today.

The crew is eager to make the event the greatest celebration of its kind in the history of the United States Navy. More than 1,600 pounds of frozen turkey are waiting in the ice-boxes. Large quantities of the choicest vegetables and fruits were taken aboard during the ship's seven day stop at Montevideo.

Mrs. Hoover said she was only too happy to spend Christmas on shipboard because "the huge smoke stacks of the ship would make it easy for Santa Claus to make his appearance."

RETAIL FOOD PRICES JUMP DURING MONTH OF NOVEMBER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(INS)—Retail food prices showed a slight increase during November amounting to one-third of one per cent over October prices, the department of labor announced today. This is the same increase over November prices a year ago, while since November 1913, the increase has amounted to 50 per cent.

Of the 13 articles that increased in price, fresh eggs topped the list with an increase of 9 per cent. Onions increased 9 per cent, leg of lamb and bananas, 2 per cent. The principal decreases were: Oranges, 12 per cent; pork chops, 5 per cent; round steak

Frank Lingenfelter Jailed For Violation of His Probation Here

FRANK LINGENFELTER, 34, night clerk at St. Ann's Inn, who, more than a year ago embezzled $600 from the hotel's till, only to be given probation after he was arrested, and through the kindness of R. L. Bisby, hotel manager, re-instated in his position as Deputy Sheriff Humiston and L. A. Warren, probation officer, and is being held in the county jail for violation of his probation.

That Lingenfelter had violated his probation by getting drunk at various times during the past four months, particularly recently, was the reason given by the probation officer for the arrest yesterday.

A charge of possession of liquor also may be filed against Lingenfelter in connection with his arrest, it was said.

Lingenfelter was arrested several weeks after he walked out of the hotel in the fall of 1927 with the stolen money. Through the efforts of the Santa Ana police department and the sheriff's office, he was arrested and pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzlement. He applied for probation on November 25, 1927, and was granted a five year probation by the superior court here on December 2.

At that time the management of the hotel was of the opinion that Lingenfelter, who never had been in trouble before, had merely made a single false step, and was granted probation when Bisby said he would re-instate him.

All went well, it was said, until approximately four months ago when Lingenfelter began to slip, according to the probation officer. His arrest came about when his sponsors became convinced that he was drinking heavily.

3,000,000 Cases Of Influenza By Christmas, Belief

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(UP)—with the wave of the influenza epidemic steadily approaching the larger centers of population, public health service officials today predicted a total of 3,000,000 cases by Christmas.

Official reports received by the health service showed a total of 141,077 actual cases reported by state authorities for the week ended December 15, but this was thought to be less than a fifth of the total, indicating about 700,000 persons now are afflicted.

If the present rate is maintained, officials said, there probably will be 500,000 new cases for the week ending December 22. The epidemic probably has reached its height in the west and middlewest, officials said, since the cycle of the disease runs from three to six weeks.

Goebel Recovering From Operation In Wichita Hospital

WICHITA, Kan., Dec. 20.—(INS)—Art Goebel, Pacific ocean flight prize winner, is reported "progressing satisfactorily" in a hospital here today. He underwent an operation for appendicitis late yesterday.

The aviator flew to Wichita last week from Kansas City in a heavy fog. Influenza developed. Frank Phillips, oil man of Bartlesville, Okla., Goebel's backer, is at the bedside today.

Los Angeles, Dec. 20.—(UP)—Held by the voice of Aimee Semple McPherson, several thousand of her followers filled orderly from Angeles Temple last night after a Christmas tree broke into flames on the platform from which the woman evangelist was speaking.

As the tree first was fired by a crossed wire a number of people made an attempt to rush to the exits but Mrs. McPherson called on them to walk quietly and without haste from the building. The audience heeded her appeal.

RECOVERY OF KING GEORGE SEEMS CERTAIN

Five Royal Physicians In Joint Statement Say Progress Shown

By KEITH JONES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
LONDON, Dec. 20.—King George is in a position to recover from his critical illness. Five of the royal physicians examined the patient today and issued a joint statement saying the king's progress had been established on a firm basis.

The statement was made by the king's chief physicians, Lord Dawson of Penn and Sir Stanley Hewett, who have been in almost constant attendance on the king during his illness, and by Sir E. Farquhar Buzzard, Sir Humphrey Rolleston and Sir Hugh Rigby.

The statement said the right side of the chest had improved and that there was evidence of more normal respiratory functions.

The announcement brought joy to London, already prepared for good news by the optimistic reports of the last two days.

It was believed that unless the king had an unexpected relapse, he would slowly recover, although his convalescence must be long and tedious.

The text of the joint announcement said: "A consultation has taken place in order to make a comprehensive survey of His Majesty's present progress and to discuss the lines along which treatment in the immediate future had best proceed."

"The condition of the right side of the chest is improved. There is evidence of more normal respiratory functions. The healing of emphysema, with its severe local infection, though satisfactory, must be necessarily a lengthy process."

"The heart is slowly gathering power and while the exhaustion remains profound, a slight access to the general strength is noticeable."

"The future course of the illness must from its nature be slow and not without difficulties, but we are happy to state that the king's progress is now estimated on a firmer basis."

"STANLEY HEWETT
"HUGH RIGBY
"E. FARQUHAR BUZZARD
"HUMPHREY ROLLESTON
"DAWSON OF PENN."
The statement was timed at 3:30 p. m.

Local Citizens Assert That Bootlegging Is Being Carried On Here

"FIGHTING BOB" SHULER, the insurgent Los Angeles pastor, has been asked for his advice in a campaign to "clean up" vice and liquor conditions in Orange county.

The Rev. Mr. Shuler this morning declared he had been in conversation with several citizens of Orange county, including Charles F. Havens, and his counsel sought on how to improve conditions here. Shuler said Havens had told him that liquor law violations were numerous in this county.

Rumors to the effect that a number of detectives had come to the county for the purpose of inquiring into conditions have been heard on the streets for the past several days, but so far as the Rev. Mr. Shuler knows, they are not here now, according to an interview with the fighting pastor today.

"I have been told that conditions were bad, and I have been told enough to make me believe that bootlegging is being done under protection," the Rev. Mr. Shuler said.

Asked if a group of citizens had asked his advice about how to go after bootlegging here, Shuler said that he supposed they knew. "Just go out and arrest them," he said. He stated that he had not been asked by the Orange county citizens how to go about collecting the evidence. "I suppose they know how to do that," he said.

Shuler said that he had been in conversation with Charles F. Havens several times regarding the liquor situation in Orange county, but that so far as he knew there was no action being taken by citizens regarding it at this time.

Mr. Havens when interviewed by The Register this afternoon said: "There are absolutely no detectives in Orange county now looking into the effect that there are erroneous. We are simply trying to form a club for the election of good officers next time and for our civic betterment."

Havens held a meeting of citizens here several nights ago at a local church, but there was no action taken, chiefly because there were only a few in attendance.

Several local ministers said they had not been approached by Havens.

OKLAHOMA WOMAN SEEKS AIR RECORD

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Dec. 20.—(UP)—Miss Viola Gentry of Oklahoma was whirling her Travelair biplane above Roosevelt field today in an attempt to establish a new sustained flying record for women.

The young woman started from Roosevelt field at 5:44:23 a. m. At 9 a. m. she was flying smoothly over a regular course,

CHILDREN DISTURB ACTIONS OF MECHANICAL TRAFFIC COP

BURLINGAME, Calif., Dec. 20.—(INS)—Mr. Televox, Burlingame's mechanical traffic officer is in a highly nervous condition today, what with his delicate responsive machinery reacting against himself to the glee of small boys and to the general disruption of traffic.

The mechanical traffic director was installed at a busy intersection here a short time ago, and for a while he functioned in a manner that may have caused his metal "innards" to glow with satisfaction. His instructions were to give cars on the highway a clear signal, until cars from the other direction appeared and sounded their horns. His "ears" were attuned to catch the vibrations from the horns and automatically reverse the signals.

But it wasn't long before the youth of Burlingame discovered that Mr. Televox would lend his "ears" to their shouts, whereupon the mechanical officer would lose all control of himself and flash his signals without rhyme or reason. Pondering over a solution the police seem to be as confused as Mr. Televox himself. One of the officers has suggested that the mechanical policeman be given a razor strap and instructions on its use, as applied to small boys.

PAN-AMERICAN BODY STARTS TREATY WORK

Arbitration Between South American Countries Is Aim of Committee

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(INS)—With the machinery of the special mediation committee of the Pan-American conference moving slowly toward a pacific solution of the Bolivian-Paraguayan border dispute, activities of the conference proper began laying the groundwork for an arbitration treaty today.

A plenary session of the arbitration committee probably will be called for tomorrow to receive the tentative draft of a convention being prepared by Victor M. Maurtua, of Peru, and Enrique Olaya, of Colombia, the reporters.

Already they have agreed upon a number of exceptions to questions which would be submitted to arbitration, which are said to represent the views of a majority of the delegates. The reporters were charged with obtaining the views of the other delegates to guide them in making a draft for discussion.

The first real test of South American diplomacy vs. North American is expected to come when the full committee meets, unless circumstances make it advisable to appoint a sub-committee to thrash out the matter, as was done in the case of the conciliation committee. A subcommittee of the latter is now preparing a draft convention for submission to the full committee.

There was some conjecture today as to what would be the attitude of the American delegates, Secretary of State Kellogg and Charles E. Hughes on the question of excepting from arbitration pecuniary.

DENIES ATTACK

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Dec. 20.—The government issued a communique today in connection with Bolivia's denial that Bolivian troops attacked the Paraguayan forts General Genes, Valois and Rivarola during the clashes Dec. 14 in disputed Chaco region.

The communique contained an official field dispatch to the ministry of war from Captain Medardo Castagnino, regarding the clash in the Chaco district.

The dispatch said: "On hearing of the Bolivian attack on Fort Mariscal Lopez, I advanced to support Lieut. Russo

New York Police Commissioner In Speakeasy Attack

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(INS)—Proprietors of speakeasies and gamblers quaked in their boots today as the result of the announced intention of Grover Whalen, New York's new police commissioner, to have the police "clean out those speakeasies which are the breeders of crime," and to curb the activities of professional gamblers.

The crusading commissioner has instructed the police to use night-stick and guns freely in warring against the underworld, but to show the utmost courtesy and consideration to "peaceful citizens." And immediate improvement in the discipline of the force was ordered.

Expect Schumacher To Stay At Head Of County Board

APPOINTMENTS IN ORDER AFTER FIRST OF YEAR

With but one more session of the board of supervisors scheduled for this year and with C. H. Chapman, of Santa Ana, ready to take his place on the governing body at its first 1929 meeting, attention was turned today to the fact that many appointments will be in order after January 1 and that the board itself will be eligible for reorganization.

Col. S. H. Finley, incumbent from this district, will attend his last session next Wednesday, when the board will hold its final session in 1928.

Colonel Finley announced last summer that he would not be a candidate for re-election and Chapman was chosen by the voters to take his place.

It is believed in many quarters that William Schumacher, chairman of the board, will retain his position after the first January session and although reorganization is in order, it is not expected that any important changes will be made. Appointment of committees, however, may undergo some changes, it is thought, owing to the fact that Chapman will be taking office.

Twelve appointments or reappointments to county positions will be in order, the appointees being given office for a two-year period. The offices to be filled include those of the county health officer, county park custodian, county hospital superintendent, fire warden, livestock inspector, purchasing agent, court interpreter, janitor, gardener and county garage foreman.

Round Trip From N. Y. To S. F. Plan Of Kansas Flyer

WICHITA, Kas., Dec. 20.—(UP)—A non-stop, round-trip flight between New York and San Francisco will be undertaken March 3 by H. P. Mitchell, nephew of Col. William Mitchell, former chief of the army air service, he announced here last night.

NUT GROWERS PROTEST CUT IN TARIFFS

vision next month and the entire tariff schedule will be gone over by the ways and means committee and the commission, it is expected.

Christie pointed out that walnuts today enjoy fair tariff rates of four cents a pound for nuts in the shell and 12 cents a pound for kernels. This schedule, he pointed out, was the result of Teague's work in 1921, when he appeared in Washington and placed before the commission the facts regarding the industry, the production costs and the competition to be met. The California Walnut Growers' association, he said, made a stiff fight to obtain the tariff.

The definite date on which the commission will reach the subject of the walnut tariff has not been determined, but it probably will fall in the week beginning January 21 and is expected to be on January 26.

Harold Wahlberg, farm advisor of Orange county, was assembling today the figures on production costs in Orange county, while in other walnut producing regions similar activity was going on. The material will be supplied to the association in order that Teague or Thorpe will have the full situation at their command when the commission hears arguments on the tariff situation.

Youth Cited To Juvenile Court On Check Count

Guy T. Galbreath, 18 years old, arrested here over the week end on a charge of issuing a fictitious check, today was cited to the juvenile court for trial when his preliminary examination was called in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court.

Galbreath is asserted to have given a check to the Royale company, on North Sycamore street, for $27.50, on which no funds could be realized.

He was arrested by city officers several minutes later in a rooming house.

CALANTHE CLUB HAS CHRISTMAS PARTY

Holidays joys reigned supreme last night at Knights of Pythias hall, when Mrs. J. D. Sanborn and her committee of the Calanthe club of the Pythian Sisters, entertained the Knights, the Pythian Sisters and their families at a dinner and Christmas party.

The correct Yuletide atmosphere was maintained by the lavish use of cotoneaster sprays, poinsettias and red candles to deck the dinner tables, while in the main lodge room, the same decorative effect was crowned by a beautiful tree.

Mrs. Sanborn and her committee, Mrs. Calvin H. Powers, Mrs. Edward Coehms, Miss Allie Bennett, Mrs. Mary Smith, Mrs. Olive Boggs, Mrs. Stuessy and Mrs. Myrtle Clifton, furnished the meat and vegetable course of the dinner, while other Calanthe club members added perfection salads, home-made pies and other delicious dishes for the enjoyment of the 100 guests partaking of the fare.

Dinner was followed by a very short business session, after which Mrs. Peter Isherwood made a very attractive "Mrs. Santa Claus" and aided Santa, busy elsewhere on Christmas work. As the guests marched past the platform where she sat, "Mrs. Santa" handed each a box of candy and an apple, and later conducted the drawing whereby the members exchanged little gifts. To complete the happy evening, old-time dancing was enjoyed to the violin music of J. W. Mitchell, with Mrs. Benier at the piano.

It was voted last night by the Calanthe club, to extend its Christmas giving to take in the County Health camp, and a money donation will be made, while boxes of candy and rosy apples like those distributed last night, will also be sent to the children.

HOLD CONFERENCE ON EXPRESS DEAL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(UP)—A committee of railway executives met with the interstate commerce commission today to approve a proposed agreement under which railroads will take over and operate the American Railway Express company. Railroads represented by the committee are the New York Central, Pennsylvania and the Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe.

The application said the railroads would acquire properties of the company by March 1, 1929, and operate it thereafter as a subsidiary agency of the railroads.

Dog Team Carries Serum In Battle Against Disease

CORVOVA, Alaska, Dec. 20.—(UP)—Word of the successful conclusion of a race with a dog team to carry serum from Anvik to Holy Cross to check a smallpox epidemic was anxiously awaited here today.

Atmospheric conditions still prevented radio communication with either of the towns, but it was assumed the race of 50 miles had been completed.

PAN-AMERICAN BODY STARTS TREATY WORK

Padin, Lieut. Figari, who maintained contact with the Bolivian cavalry until 5 p. m. Dec. 14 when the Bolivians retired, died in action.

"That same night, the Bolivians marched on Fort General Genes, cutting the highway to Forts Valois and Rivarola. On the 15th, the Bolivians continued advancing, reaching a distance of 20 kilometers (approximately 11 miles) from Fort General Genes, but retired hurriedly before our strong attack, allowing us to recapture Fort Masical Lopez. We lost Lieut. Figari, three infantrymen and two cavalrymen."

The ministry of war announced today that everything is quiet in the Chaco region, where an international incident was precipitated by clashes between border patrols of the two nations.

Hundreds of persons, who had not heard of the end of the mobilization after Bolivia agreed to accept the good offices of the Pan-American arbitration and conciliation conference in the dispute, continued to pour into the capital today.

Congress met in secret session yesterday and heard the reports of the ministers of war and foreign affairs on the situation. A project to grant complete amnesty to military leaders involved in the recent revolutions was approved unanimously.

The members of congress stood for several minutes in honor of Lieut. Figari.

Col. Elias Ayala, former Paraguayan charge d'affaires in La Paz, arrived on the international express from Buenos Aires last night. He was carried on the shoulders of a crowd as far as the parliament buildings where he delivered an address reiterating his charges that he was badly treated while leaving Bolivia after the break in diplomatic relations between the two countries.

ETHEL FORMAN, S. A. RESIDENT, DIES IN CHICAGO

A telegram last night brought the sad news to relatives and friends of the death, in Chicago, yesterday afternoon, of Mrs. Ethel C. Forman, 58, of this city. Plans for the funeral were not contained in the telegram, but it was said by relatives here that the body would be interred in New York Friday or Saturday beside the body of Mrs. Forman's late husband.

Mrs. Forman, who was born in 1872, in Sturgis, Mich., was the mother of Miss Norma Forman, kindergarten instructor in the John Muir school on East Fourth street; Lyle Forman, of the Forman and Gilbert Picture company, 1428 West Fifth street; Leo Forman, New York; and Mrs. W. B. Kincaid, of Chicago. She also is survived by a brother in New York.

Mrs. Forman resided at 706 Kilson drive with her son and daughter and left here last July to attend the wedding of her son in New York. She then went to Chicago to visit her daughter there.

Twins were born to the daughter on December 15, but Mrs. Forman had contracted a cold and could not attend her daughter. She died from bronchial pneumonia without seeing her two little grandchildren.

Mrs. Forman had lived here for about four years and was very active in affairs of the First Congregational church. She was superintendent of the primary department of the Sunday school of that church at the time of her departure.

GIVEN JAIL TERM ON THEFT CHARGE

George Morris, charged with petty theft after he is said to have stolen a suitcase filled with clothes from the automobile of D. B. Nunneally here Tuesday afternoon, was sentenced to serve 60 days in the county jail in Judge J. F. Talbott's police court yesterday. Morris also was charged with attempting to rifle the cash register in the service station of M. W. Sweetser, 902 West Seventeenth street, but this charge was not pushed in the face of the petty theft count.

MELLON IN ANSWER TO TEXAN'S CHARGE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(UP)—Secretary of Treasury Mellon defended today treasury estimates attacked yesterday by Rep. Garner, Democrat, Texas, and declared Garner's statements were "based on wrong figures which do not fit the facts."

"The treasury makes a statement and has to be responsible for it," Mellon said, "but Garner can make a statement and has no responsibility for it."

Garner had charged Mellon with making incorrect estimates of the treasury's status and asked that Mellon resign.

Charge Of Child Stealing Brought Against Mexican

Charged with child stealing, Marcela Gomez, 18-year-old Mexican of 209 Ash avenue, Fullerton, was arrested in San Diego yesterday on advice of sheriff's officers here and returned to the county jail last night by Sheriff Sam Jennings and W. Hunter Leach, jailer.

According to F. W. Howard, chief criminal deputy sheriff, Gomez took a minor girl to Tia Juana for the purpose of marriage but failed to secure a license.

He was located, Howard said, when he wrote to a friend, asking for a loan of $20.

A WORD OF COMFORT

Musicians assert that there is a characteristic tone to be distinguished in the wind-blown forest and the dripping rain as truly as in the twilight note of the hermit thrush. This is symptomatic of the truth that each life has something distinctive to contribute to what Browning calls "the general deed of man."

Your heartbreaking sorrow enlarges and deepens your capacity to bring to the world's music a strong enduring note of strength and courage and faith. Your life's mission is greater now than you could have guessed before. With God's help, you will not fail.

NO COST FIGURE GIVEN. COUNTER ACTION CLAIMS

Frank E. Jackson and George H. Natzel denied today that they are guilty of fraud or misrepresentation in an alleged contract with J. H. Irvin and T. L. Green whereby the latter were authorized to construct "big cones" in Riverside and San Bernardino counties. The charges against Jackson and Natzel were made in a damage suit filed by Irvin and today, with an answer to the complaint, the defendants filed a cross-complaint against the plaintiffs seeking $2790 alleged to be due and unpaid from Irvin.

Irvin had declared that the cost of erecting the cones under contract with the defendant was greater than they are said to have told him it would be. He also stated that he was unable to get as much for the ice cream sold in them as he was told he could get. In answering the complaint, Jackson and Natzel denied that they had set a cost figure and pointed out that, if the cost was too great, it must have been because more expensive material than necessary was used.

Irvin claimed that he and Green, who is said to have assigned his interest to the former, were ignorant of the method of handling ice cream. The answer filed today declared that Green was operating an ice cream and soda fountain business in Santa Ana at the time the contract was made. The defendants said that they had not promised that ice cream could be sold for $4 a gallon, as the plaintiff alleged they had told him. They stated, however, that their prospectus said that $2.50 a gallon could be realized. Irvin said in his complaint that he made $2.35 a gallon.

In the cross-complaint it was alleged that the plaintiff became indebted to the defendants, through the contract, in the amount of $5500 and that $2790 of this amount still is due and unpaid. The defendants are represented by the firm of Drumm and Tucker, of Santa Ana.

Improvements In Interior Of City Hall Completed

With identification of the different rooms with letters and figures in gold and with a directory on a wall of the main hall, Santa Ana's city hall today had assumed the appearance, in some ways, of the seat of government in many of the larger cities.

Identification of the offices follows the recent painting of the interior of the hall, the painting effectively changing the place from a dingy, dark interior to a bright and cheerful one. It was pointed out today by City Manager W. G. Knox that there seemed little possibility of the city building a new city hall in the near future and that it was necessary to spend a few dollars to give the interior of the city home a brighter and more cheerful appearance.

CITY EMPLOYEES TO HOLD PARTY FRIDAY NIGHT

Employees of the city today were looking forward to tomorrow night in anticipation of a repetition of the success of the first Christmas party of the group, held last year in the city garage at the corner of First and Barton streets.

Preparations were going forward today for cleaning up and decorating the garage for the joyous time programmed for tomorrow night, the program being scheduled to start at 8 o'clock.

Miss Janey Wild, in the office of City Engineer Clyde Jenken, is general chairman of the committee and is directing the work preliminary to the big city family party. It is anticipated that 250 men, women and children will be in attendance. There will be a Christmas tree and presents.

Dancing will be one of the features of the party, this entertainment following conclusion of the program. Sandwiches and coffee will be served.

To Finish Cement Pouring On Main Street Christmas

With good weather conditions prevailing, the pouring of cement on South Main street, which is being paved, will be completed by Christmas day, Nat Neff, highway superintendent, announced today. By January 15 the roadway will be open to traffic, he estimated, provided the weather permits continued work.

The street already is open to Dye road and traffic to Newport Beach goes the entire distance on paved highway. Completion of the project will provide a three-lane thoroughfare from Santa Ana to the Coast highway at The Arches.

FARM BUREAU TO GET AID IN MEMBER DRIVE

That a representative of the American Farm Bureau federation will be in Orange county in the near future to give his support to the campaign for increasing membership in the farm bureau here was announced today by J. A. Smiley, regional membership director.

Smiley today received a telegram from Alex Johnson, secretary of the California Farm Bureau federation, in which he stated that the national organization would send a representative to Southern California and Orange county during January. Enthusiasm of Smiley and the campaign workers here was raised by the announcement and the prediction that the farm bureau here will reach its membership quota of 2000 was repeated today by Smiley. He has just returned from San Diego, where he conferred with the directors of the farm bureau of San Diego county.

Smiley is heading the membership work in five southern counties and is optimistic over the prospect of adding 1500 members in the five areas. Riverside, San Bernardino and Orange counties are engaged in membership campaigns now and San Diego is expected to launch a drive in January.

MANAGER OF STORE IS HOST TO STAFF

Edward B. Cicero, who recently arrived in Santa Ana to assume the management of the Sears Roebuck store here, expressed the prevailing holiday spirit last night, when he was host to the employees of the store and a few members of their families at a party held at the close of the day's business.

Nearly a score of merry-makers assembled in the store basement, where a lighted Christmas tree dominated the scene. A gift exchange, in which each one presented a gift and received a present, was an enjoyable feature. Sandwiches, salad, coffee, candy and cigars were served by the host.

Miss Dorothy Boyd presented a special dance number and the remainder of the evening was given over to dancing.

CO-OPERATION GIVEN MURPHY IN VETS' RELIEF

William J. Murphy, state commander of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, returned today from another trip of inspection during which he visited the various chapters of his organization and veterans hospitals throughout the state.

Murphy conferred with Colonel Lasche, commander of the Veterans' Bureau hospital, in Palo Alto, maintained for shellshocked veterans and mental cases. Murphy commended the entire staff and particularly complimented Commander Lasche on his executive ability and keen insight of the problems of the disabled veterans. His is the only Veterans' Bureau hospital caring for mental cases in California.

The hospitals in Livermore and San Fernando, which also are under the Veterans' Bureau jurisdiction, care for only T.B. cases. General medical and surgical cases are sent to Letterman, Sawtelle and San Diego naval base hospitals.

Agnew, Norwalk and Patton hospitals, which are state institutions, still have a number of ex-service men who rapidly are being transferred to the government hospital in Palo Alto through the work and at the instigation of Commander Murphy. This action will result in a saving to the counties and state of California and a material help to the men who gave their all for their country, the commander says.

Murphy, whenever he hears of a disabled comrade outside of the recognized veterans' bureau hospitals, visits the hospital in which he is confined and endeavors to have the man transferred. He maintains that the government wants to take care of him and that it is the duty of the government and not the state or county. On this trip he visited San Quentin penitentiary, accompanied by San Francisco veterans' bureau officials, to look into the cases of a few disabled buddies who, through their war disordered minds, erred and were imprisoned. He is trying to have some of them paroled to the various veterans' bureau hospitals, as the case applies, so that they may at least, in recompense for the service they gave their country in 1917 and 1918, die outside of prison walls.

Murphy is receiving 100 per cent co-operation from the U. S. Veterans' bureau officials and staffs in San Francisco and Los Angeles, he says. Complaints made by him regarding hospitalization and rehabilitation, immediately after taking office, last summer, have been adjusted satisfactorily. The American Legion also is co-operating. The department of California executive committee increased its budget for the work of its state commission on hospitalization and rehabilitation 10 times over at its regular meeting last Sunday in San Jose, where Murphy was in attendance.

The American Legion and Disabled American Veterans' auxiliaries are doing wonderful work all over the state by visiting and cheering the boys, playing cards with them and taking luxuries such as candy, cakes, and jellies to them, Murphy said. He especially commends the work of the girls of both Santa Ana auxiliaries.

KNIGHTS TOLD OF PLANS FOR AGED, INFIRM

Santa Ana. Einar Holboell was sorting Christmas mail in a little Danish town about a quarter of a century ago. He was interested in the fight just being started by valiant medical men and social workers of the continent against tuberculosis, the germ of which Koch, in Germany, had isolated. His job was monotonous so it gave him time to think. He saw the millions of letters, cards and packages going forth each year, breathing the spirit of Good Will on Earth. Suddenly it came to him, "Why should not these misadventures carry another little burden of good will? Why not send them forth with a Christmas stamp, the sale of which went into the great crusade against tuberculosis?"

His idea took. Today Christmas seals are one of the main agencies in a world-wide war against this preventable disease. In Orange county, the Christmas seal sale helps finance the children's camp in Santiago canyon, where 30 little under-nourished children today are fighting their battle for health.

Enthusiastic in regard to the progress being made toward the establishment of a California Home for Aged and Infirm Knights of Columbus, Robert A. Mackenzie, of San Francisco, state deputy of the order and a house guest of Dr. V. A. Rossiter, of this city and Orange, is speaking tonight before the councils which comprise the Santa Ana district.

The distinguished Knight appeared last night before the Anaheim council and will speak tonight before the Whittier council. He will be accompanied to Whittier by a large delegation of Santa Ana Knights, including his host, Dr. Rossiter, a member of the state committee on plans for the home, and Clyde H. Ashen, district deputy.

The project for establishing such a home was launched early in the year at the state convention, held in Hollywood, and Dr. Rossiter was named as a member of the committee to ascertain the possibility and feasibility of the plan. The 1929 state convention will be held in Del Monte, sometime in May, and at that time the committee expects to offer a most encouraging report. The plan is in line with a nation-wide project to establish such homes in the various states, and many of them already have been built and are proving highly successful.

The twenty-sixth district, for which Clyde H. Ashen is the deputy, comprises five councils, Santa Ana, Anaheim, Whittier, Pomona and Ontario. The first of the series of official visits made by Mackenzie was in Ontario, on Tuesday night, and was attended by Dr. Rossiter, Dr. V. C. Croal and Messrs. Ashen, Leroy Burns, Henry Hodges, Fred Urbine, George Pierson, J. Ogden Markel and A. J. Wainberg.

The next district meeting will be held in this city on January 15.

BUILDER EXCHANGE CHIEF IS FATHER

Allison Honer, president of the Builders' exchange, and Mrs. Honer, of 2415 French street, were receiving congratulations today on the birth of a baby boy. The little boy arrived at 7:30 a. m.

According to the scales in the Eggleston Maternity home, which he selected as his place of arrival, Donald Allison Honer weighed eight pounds when he was born.

Both he and his mother were reported to be happy and well as the youngster began getting acquainted with the world he has entered.

Appointment Of Traffic Officers By State Is Seen

That a bill may be introduced in the next legislature providing for making the appointment of state traffic officers a strictly state proposition was rumored in Santa Ana today. If the bill is introduced, it will have the approval of Frank G. Snook, chief of the motor vehicle department, it was said.

Passing of the bill would remove the so-called double-headed control in the traffic department, whereby the board of supervisors of each county recommends appointments of state traffic officers, who are responsible then to the state in carrying out their duties. The bill thus would relieve the Orange county board of supervisors from the duty of virtually selecting the men who make up the state traffic squad here, it was pointed out.

It is said that in some counties this change would be welcomed by the county officials, who regard the selection of appointments as a purely state matter.

HIGH SCHOOL AND JAYSEE NOTES

Christmas carols were very much in evidence at the Santa Ana high school yesterday. The combined glee clubs under the direction of Miss Myrtle Martin, director of music, sang carols during the sixth period. The musical group sang songs on each of the floors of the three buildings.

One of the seniors' bugaboos, the senior arithmetic examination, will put in its appearance to haunt the upperclassmen. It is required of every senior to pass this arithmetic test before receiving his diploma. The first test will be given in February and those failing to pass will have to enroll in a senior review class with no credit. Sample problems given out yesterday to the seniors created quite a stir.

Christmas candy, dolls, toys and other tokens of the approaching Christmas season were very much in evidence at the high school Wednesday. Many classes had gift exchanges while others ate candy brought in by the students.

Sweatshirts for the children in the open air health camp are being provided by the Girl Reserves in the high school. Each first period class was asked to contribute to the cause yesterday and quite a sum was raised. Twenty-nine shirts are needed and this will require around $40.

The 1928 Christmas Generator, annual edition just before vacation, held up the good reputation the publication has made in former years. The paper has six pages and was printed in red and green ink. The sheet used illustrations. Photos of Principal D. K. Hammond and Student Body President Newell Vandermast were published. They each had a Christmas greeting to the students.

WOMEN MEET SANTA CLAUS AT BREAKFAST

Christmas descended upon St. Ann's Inn this morning when members of the Santa Ana Breakfast club entertained their wives and women friends at breakfast. Of special interest was the Christmas tree, which stood near the door and which held a gift for each of the women present for the affair.

Bruce Switzler, president of the club, extended a greeting to the women, which was answered by Miss Lillian Fitzpatrick. The women also sang several songs especially prepared for the occasion.

Charles Chapman, who was in charge of the program committee, introduced Caesar Clantoni, head of the Santa Ana Conservatory of Music, who presented two trombone solos, bespeaking the Christmas season, with Miss Allen Lafr accompanying him at the piano.

A brass quartet, composed of Clantoni, Harry Hanson, William Motley and Carl Gunn, gave three numbers, appropriate to the Christmas season.

Guy Gilbert, who also was a member of the day's program committee, introduced Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Askins, formerly vaudeville artists, and Askins gave a number of clever monologues in Negro dialect. He also sang several Negro songs and a French Canadian song which were accompanied by Mrs. Askins.

Just before the meeting was adjourned Santa Claus, in the person of Hunter Leach, arrived to the accompaniment of jingling sleigh-bells that were carried in his hand "as the reindeer had been injured on the way."

Santa Claus saw that each woman present received a gift from the Christmas tree.

The committee in charge of the morning's entertainment included Charles Chapman, chairman; E. S. Morrow, Hunter Leach, Robert McKnight, Caesar Clantoni, Ray Townsend, C. E. Walker, Jack Cope and Guy Gilbert.

Next week's entertainment committee includes E. L. Vegeley, Hugh Hale, Clarence Trickey and B. E. Morland. Officers for the coming year will be nominated at that time.

SAN CLEMENTE CLUB ARRANGES FOR DANCE

SAN CLEMENTE, Dec. 20.—Members of the San Clemente Men's club at their weekly meeting on Tuesday night at the Social club voted to hold a dance on New Year's eve. At the same time it was voted to hold no more meetings this year and to hold the first session of the new year on the second Tuesday in January.

The chamber of commerce announced at the meeting that it would hold its regular meeting on the second Tuesday of the new year an hour before the Men's club meeting.

Bill Barriman, of Long Beach, entertained with stories and songs while Trafford Hutson gave an imitation of a lecturer delivering a talk on a subject that was never made clear to the audience. After the meeting a luncheon was served.

BEEK PREPARES FOR LIGHTS TOURNAMENT

NEWPORT BEACH, Dec. 20.—The tenth annual tournament of lights will be held August 15, 1929. It was announced today by J. A. Beek, originator of the unique water parade and chairman of the committee in charge of the event each year. Plans for making this year's event the most elaborate ever staged are already under way.

The event is becoming known as one of the feature attractions of Southern California. The spectacle of more than 150 brilliantly lighted and decorated boats in parade about the bay at night has made a magnet for thousands of visitors during the past nine years.

LIONS ARRANGE POTATO PARTY FOR SATURDAY

"Hey, kid! Got yer jitney and yer pertater yet?"

This today was more or less the common greeting of kiddies of the city following announcement in the schools yesterday by Judge Kenneth Morrison, chairman of the committee, that the Lions club of this city is sponsoring a charity matinee at the Yost Broadway theater Saturday afternoon, at which five cents and a potato will be the price of admission.

Further interest of the children was aroused by Morrison's announcement that cash prizes would be awarded for the first, second and third largest potatoes brought to the theater. The prizes will be $5, $3 and $1, the justice of the peace explained.

Presenting the assurance of the management of the Yost Broadway that the program for the matinee would be particularly appropriate for a "kid party," Morrison made the further explanation that the affair has been programmed by the Lions club in co-operation with Harold Yost, a member of the club, for the purpose of aiding the poor of the city. The potatoes received will be distributed to poor families in the community—and Morrison anticipates several bushels will be available for that purpose.

Admission to the theater at the price quoted will be limited to pupils of the grade and junior high schools of the city.

Easterners Begin Hard Grid Drill

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20.—When the East team that is to meet the West team Dec. 29 takes to the turf in Kezar stadium for its second workout today, there will be two squads lined up against each other, one named from the Far East players and the other from the Mid West.

The Easterners are not as heavy, apparently, as the Western team, but they are not lightweight, and will not go into the game very much the underdogs.

BEFORE THE MIKE

The Christmas spirit is "in the air"—figuratively and literally—more than ever this year. For Christmas suggestions, Christmas menus, Christmas shopping talks and Christmas programs fill the programs of our broadcasters. Our Christmas manners should not go amiss if we hold our ears faithfully to our loud speakers.

One of the great music masters of the United States who will become better known among the radio populace this year is Dr. Fredrick Stock. Dr. Stock is conductor of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, which holds an upper rung in the musical ladder. During the concert season Dr. Stock's orchestra broadcasts an hour of its music every Sunday night through stations of the middle west over the NBC system.

That the Damrosch music educational hour each Friday has developed a rush of interest in music is putting it mildly. Schools are installing radio receivers to listen to his discussions and examples of good music, going even to the extent of borrowing the instruments where funds are lacking for their purchase.

Whether they be Christmas recipes or the average daily variety, Mrs. Arra S. Mixer is prepared to give them. She's director of the home service department of the Hartford (Conn.) Gas company and gives a 15-minute food talk every Wednesday morning from the studio of Station WTIC. Copies of her recipes are sent out to interested housewives each month, and she's added quite a few of her radio listeners to this list.

That radio manufacturers should support their best asset, broadcasting, is the cry of radio men—and the practice of at least one of them—United Reproducers. This company has just signed a new contract calling for high class concerts every Sunday at 1:30 over a coast to coast network on the NBC system. The "Peerless Reproducers" include members of the most noted orchestras on the air.

An impromptu program is "Tea Timers," at WOR, Newark, every Saturday afternoon. The artists come in for tea, and join in the entertainment as they care.

NATIONS AT WAR WITH ONE ANOTHER 10 YEARS AGO NOW LINKED IN PEACE BY RADIO

LONDON, Dec. 20.—Ten years after the war, radio is being looked upon as a means of welding the nations of Europe together into harmonious understanding.

This is being done by the creation of a network of broadcasting stations in Germany, Belgium and England, which will later be extended to include practically every large country west of Russia. Great events, wherever they may occur, important musical programs and other worth-while features will be broadcast at the same time through stations linked together across the frontiers that a decade ago were barriers of hostile countries.

The accomplishment of this chain of nations has just been announced by officials of the British Broadcasting company. Broadcasting is expected to begin this winter, with the juncture of stations in England, Belgium and Germany, but before the season is over, Holland may be added to this international network.

Three Years In Making

By next winter, it is hoped, the Scandinavian countries, which already are linked up for radio broadcasting, Italy, Switzerland, Austria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Poland will join. France is the only country of western Europe that is still in doubt about joining this international network, but this depends on the formation of its new broadcasting authority.

The matter of linking the nations of Europe in one sweeping international radio network came up three years ago when the international consultative committee on long distance telephone circuits took it into consideration. This committee since then has standardized requirements for international linkage of cables, so that a broadcasting program originating in any of the countries participating in this work may be transmitted through the lines of all the others.

As a result, cables in England, Belgium and Germany have been fitted with "equalizers" and "repeaters," the former apparatus to keep the low frequencies going on the same value as the higher ones, the latter to amplify the signals as they are transmitted along the lines.

Test Successful

A test program last September, which joined the networks of these three countries, was sent through successfully and proved to the officials concerned that the work was highly practicable.

Cables in some of the countries are not equipped to carry frequencies required for broadcasting

Radio Editor, The Register. Dear Sir: I wish to voice my appreciation (and incidentally of many others) of the particularly excellent radio section The Register is now providing; the equal, if not superior to, of any in Southern California. Its deserving of the hearty gratitude of any radio fan.

Have we no remedy for the abominable way that KFON has of cluttering up from one-fifth to one-fourth of the dial?

Yours truly, J. L. STEPHENSON Santa Ana.

Thank you, Mr. Stephenson; we appreciate knowing that our efforts are appreciated.—Radio Editor.

BROADCASTING PLACES STAGE IN BACKGROUND

By ISRAEL KLEIN (Science Editor, NEA Service)

Radio has gone into the show business on an extended scale. It isn't the kind of a show business that can count on an extended run of a production if it proves popular the first few nights. Nor is it the kind that can figure its success on the number of packed houses it can count in a week, or the noise made by applauding hands.

Radio hasn't these positive factors on which it may base its probability of success. There is no visible audience. There is no immediate applause to encourage the entertainers.

Yet, despite these disadvantages, the radio business has become of far greater proportions than the show business ever hopes to be. So great is it that a one-night stand in radio gathers an audience at least twice as great as a five-year run, of the most popular Broadway play.

Radio Fans Protected By City Law

ordinance passed by the city council makes it illegal to operate electrical apparatus which causes reasonably preventable interference with any other electric device. This ordinance is designed to protect radio listeners against interference from such devices as violet ray and X-ray machines. These devices, except in emergencies, cannot be used between the hours of 6 and 11 p. m. Penalty for violation is a fine of not more than $100 or imprisonment for not more than 30 days.

INTERFERENCE SURVEY AWAITS LULL IN TRADE

By THE RADIO EDITOR

We have had a number of telephone calls in the last few days from parties interested in the projected survey of interference conditions here and all wanted to know when something was to be done—and this in way of explanation.

It has been hoped to have the survey under way here by Christmas, but the influenza epidemic, selecting, among its victims, several members of the interference committee of the Radio Dealers' Association of Santa Ana, delayed matters to such an extent that the survey will not be made until after the holidays.

It was expected that the interference detector set needed for the survey would be completed a couple of weeks ago, but instead it is just nearing completion and the members of the committee, employed in various radio stores in the city, declared today that they would be ready to go to work immediately after the holiday rush.

KEEP IN TOUCH WITH BYRD

Speaking of being "in tune with the infinite," these two "hams" come mighty close to it. They're in daily touch, both in reception and transmission, with the expedition commanded by Richard Byrd as it proceeds on its way to the South Pole. At top is Sgt. K. D. Wilson, of the U. S. army air corps, stationed at Bolling field, Washington. Beneath him is Dave McFarlin, of Youngstown, O. Notice the small receiver each of them used to catch the signals of Byrd's radio men from the Antarctic.

PROGRAM MAY GET UNDER WAY SOON ON KWTG

"This is station KPWF. The University of the Air, broadcasting on a power of 50,000 watts and on a wavelength of 201.3 meters, from Orange county, California."

That will be the radio greeting put on the air for the first time within the next year by the new radio station proposed for Orange county by the Pacific Western Broadcasting federation, it was revealed today with announcement that call letters and wavelength had been assigned the station by the federal radio commission.

The last three letters of the call signal, "PWF," are an abbreviation for "Pacific Western Federation," proposed operator of the station.

The wavelength assigned the Orange county station, just above that assigned to KWTG, the present Santa Ana station operated by the federation, is occupied by only one other broadcaster, a 5000-watt station in Chattanooga, Tenn. It is pointed out, so little interference trouble should be experienced.

Gross W. Alexander, of Pasadena, head of the broadcast federation, today requested that educational programs be instituted immediately after the first of the year over radio KWTG so that the avowed program of the new station may be under way when the time comes to go on the air over KPWF. D. K. Hammond, principal of the Santa Ana high school, this afternoon visited Alexander for the purpose of preparing plans for the educational broadcast.

According to present indications, Santa Ana high school and junior college faculty members will present various interesting study courses over KWTG and a check will be made of the popularity and demand for such programs.

No site has as yet been definitely decided upon, but several, in various parts of the county, are under consideration, it was pointed out.

RADIO'S POPULARITY BRINGS ENORMOUS INCREASE IN SALE OF NEW PHONOGRAPH RECORDS

The influence of radio upon the musical interests of the country is revealed in statistics just made public by the U. S. census bureau, covering the production of musical instruments. The organ alone has retained its popularity in spite of the inroads of radio into the American home. The production of organs last year shows an increase of 31 per cent over 1925. The value of the output at the factory was $14,262,688.

Organ music lends itself readily to broadcasting and some of the outstanding makers have regularly broadcast organ recitals. Pianists, on the other hand, fell off 29 per cent, last year, over the preceding census of manufacture.

The outstanding barometer of radio influence is shown to be the phonograph record. As was true with the publication of sheet music, records show an enormous increase. Last year the American public apparently spent more than $50,000,000 for records. The census report shows more than 100,000,000 records were manufactured—an increase of 25 per cent over the year 1925.

This appreciation is attributed to the growing popularity of the outstanding musical artists on the air. Thus the world famous singers of the opera and concert stage are said to have an audience running into the millions. Their radio introduction into the homes of the phonograph has resulted in an

KFQZ Now Is On New Wavelength

Don't be surprised, fans, if, when you attempt to tune in KFQZ, in its old familiar haunts, it should "turn up missing"—for you'll find the station has changed its address.

We noted this morning that KFQZ now is coming in at about 30 kilocycles above KFWB, so look it up in that location.

We found a new station last night, and it was introduced under the name of XFI and its home address was given as Mexico City. XFI is operated by the Mexican department of education.

CALDWELL RESIGNS AS BOARD COUNSEL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Louis G. Caldwell, general counsel for the federal radio commission since July, has submitted his resignation to become effective December 31. At the time Caldwell came to the commission many legal skirmishes loomed on the radio horizon. He tackled these and won in most instances.

Caldwell does not intend to leave radio entirely. Before he became an official of the federal government he was closely connected with radio and he will now revert to the practice of law, specializing in radio.

Caldwell's resignation followed his appointment as chairman of the committee of radio law of the American Bar association.

CHRISTMAS CAROLS ON KENT PROGRAM

A program of Christmas carols will be presented in the Atwater Kent Radio hour Sunday night by a mixed quartet, including Olive Kline, Elsie Baker, Arthur Hackett and William Simmons. The program includes old traditional airs of England and other countries.

Miss Kline, making her initial appearance as an Atwater Kent artist, now is as famous for her radio recitals as for her many phonograph records and Miss Hackett also has a national reputation through her records. Hackett has a personal following throughout the country from his appearances with the principal symphony orchestras and many recitals. Simmons, one of America's foremost baritones, is well known to the Atwater Kent audience.

TO TRAIN CHILDREN

Under the direction of Dr. Ada Hart Arlitt, head of the Department of Child Care at the University of Cincinnati station WLW, is presenting a series of 18 lessons on child training.

A. P. SLOAN TO BE SPEAKER ON GMC PROGRAM

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors, will deliver a short address in the General Motors Family party on Christmas eve. On this occasion, which will be Sloan's first appearance before the microphone, he will extend holiday greetings to the big "family," which is now linked together on the air from coast to coast as a result of the recent addition of the orange network to the General Motors hour.

They are Maria Kurenko, famous Russian coloratura soprano; Everett Marshall, the youngest American baritone of the Metropolitan opera; and Adrian Schubert, the symphony orchestra conductor. An hour's program of popular classical numbers will be given.

Madame Kurenko was one of the first of the famous European artists to profit by the nation-wide broadcasting of radio concerts. She had not been in America three months before she was signed for two concerts over national networks.

She made her American concert debut in Los Angeles, hastening from Riga, Russia, to fill an engagement with the Los Angeles Opera company, Mme. Kurenko's steamer was late in reaching New York. She immediately entrained for the trans-continental trip, and without rehearsal opened in "Rigoletto," with a strange organization in a strange land, and having but eight words of English at her command.

Growers Having Some Difficulty In KHJ Reception

Many growers have had difficulty in securing the minimum temperature forecasts from KHJ at 7:55 each night since the station's recent change in wavelength, according to Farm Adviser Harold E. Wahlberg. This complaint has been quite general throughout Orange county, especially since the cold weather has arrived and almost every orchardist in the exposed districts is intent upon these nightly reports.

It is suggested that all the growers who are having difficulty in this reception, with respect to clarity, volume and interference, should write to KHJ, the Don Lee station, Los Angeles, and report the difficulty. Any change to correct the difficulty will be made easier if the station has on file a general complaint from growers all over Southern California, which may be submitted in the hearing before the radio commission.

Such vital reports to the agricultural industry should be given a wavelength favorable to general clear reception, Wahlberg says.

Reallocation Is Violation of Law, Is Claim of WGY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Argument before the court of appeals of the District of Columbia on the injunction obtained by WGY, Schenectady, N. Y., developed that the station's chief contention in resisting the reallocation order that deprived it of full time on the air is that the order invades its property rights in violation of the federal constitution.

Charles Evans Hughes headed the station's group of counsel and presented the argument as "the real core of the case."

of an extra tube for replacement. If not in tubes, does the set howl even when aerial and ground are disconnected? If it does, the trouble lies in the set. Let your dealer check it over.

Check B Batteries

2. SQUEALS: In battery operated sets check the B batteries. If they have dropped below 35 volts each on voltmeter test they may cause tubes to squeal or whine. If the squeal shows itself in only one or two places on the dial, it is undoubtedly caused by two broadcasting stations sending on or near the same wave length. The only remedy lies in reporting the matter to the radio commission at Washington. Sufficient complaints may result in a reallocation. If the squeal resembles a whistle, rising and falling sharply, even though the listener is not tuning at the time, the trouble lies in a regenerative set producing a heterodyne or regenerated wave within two blocks of you. This type of receiver is fast going off the market, but there are thousands still in use. The owner of a regenerative may not be aware of this quality in his receiver. If informed of the fact, any fair-minded person will cooperate with his neighbors in eliminating the trouble.

3. BUZZ; HUM: Many causes. Noticeable in varied degrees in most A. C. sets. In later and better models it does not interfere. If too pronounced and listener can hear a regular beat corresponding with the 60 cycle current supply, it may be caused by a poor ground. In most cases a cold water pipe is best. If, however, there are electric devices such as refrigerators or motor driven oil burners on the premises, a separate outside ground may be necessary. See that the aerial is well clear of electric and telephone wires, and that it does not parallel any wires near your home. Last, disconnect aerial and ground to check source to set.

Paralyzed Tube
4. CRACKLE: In battery sets, check the A battery and B's. May be a paralyzed tube. Use an extra to check. Is aerial slack? Tighten to prevent swinging. Check the insulators, especially at the lead-in. Check for loose connections. Test with aerial and ground disconnected.

5. FADE-OUTS: In battery operated sets, low batteries. Other sources same as in No. 4.

Radio owners, in erecting signals, often make the mistake of believing that the longer the aerial, the better the reception. On the contrary, too long an aerial reduces selectivity, increases static and over a certain point will not increase volume. Most sets operate best with less than 125 feet of aerial and lead-in combined. Modern power sets rely on high amplification rather than long aerials. Many use inside or loop aerials to reduce static.

WHEN SANTA STARTS DELIVERING RADIOS

Here we have pictured the truckload of Freshman by the Shafer Music house, Santa Ana representative of the total shipment received here this morning super-dynamic radios received here yesterday for the Freshman. The truckload is but only.

Shafer Music Company Gets Shipment of Freshmans Valued at $13,000

The Shafer Music house, Santa Ana representative for the Freshman super-dynamic radio, this week received a shipment of Freshman receivers valued at approximately $13,000. It was revealed today by Burr Shafer, manager. The complete shipment is believed to be the largest single radio shipment ever received by an Orange county dealer, Shafer declared.

The Shafer Music house has been exclusive factory representative for the Freshman radio in Santa Ana for a number of years and because of this direct factory representation, is able to buy the receivers direct from the factory instead of through a jobber, Shafer stated today. This fortunate feature, he added, enables the store to feature a surprisingly low price on the sets. According to his estimate, over 500 Freshman radios have been sold in the Santa Ana territory.

The shipment just received, Shafer stated, is by far the greatest value Freshman ever has offered. The new models include the super-dynamic speaker, walnut or mahogany console cabinets and illuminated dial tuned to wavelengths.

YULE TREAT TO BE PRESENTED BY SEIBERLINGS

Amid the sounds of breaking string and crackling tissue paper, the Seiberling Singers will unwrap a pack of vocal and instrumental Christmas presents to 30 million listeners in tonight, the Seiberling hour before Christmas. And one of the musical bundles is a real surprise—Rachmaninoff's "other prelude."

When the Seiberling Singers quartet sang the great Russian composer's "Prelude in C Sharp Minor" a couple of months ago in a vocal arrangement by Frank Black, musical director of the Seiberling hour, they brought the radio house down. Though they have repeated it once, since, they are still getting requests for it. Now, however, they have prepared a vocal arrangement of the almost equally famous "other prelude" by Rachmaninoff—his "Prelude in G Minor"—and will sing it for the first time on their Christmas-present program.

While this performance probably will be the choicest bundle under the Seiberling Christmas tree, two other vocal and instrumental presents should delight the millions of listeners-in who attend the party. Both are request performances—one of Kreisler's "Liebesleid" played by the Seiberling "Singing Violins" and the other of Deppen's "Japanese Sunset," which the Seiberling quartet has been forced to repeat once before and which they have recently recorded on a Columbia record.

The Seiberling hour is broadcast every Thursday night from 6 to 6:30, Pacific coast time, through 37 stations of the National Broadcasting company's Red and Pacific coast networks.

LOOP ANTENNA IS ZENITH FEATURE

Zenith points with pride to its new model 39A, a receiver which extends, without hesitation, a challenge to any other radio receiver made today to approach it in perfection of performance, fidelity of tone or beauty of appearance, according to Bob Gerwing, Santa Ana dealer.

This particular model, one of several of the famous Zenith line of radio receivers incorporating Zenith's latest achievement, automatic tuning, is the only regularly manufactured set operating successfully with a concealed loop antenna, Gerwing said. The advantages of a loop antenna are emphasized particularly in the larger cities where broadcasting stations make it difficult for the radio user to cut through local stations for distance reception. Because it is directional, a loop permits the utmost of selectivity, cutting off signals which are not wanted and which greatly interfere with reception.

"Automatic tuning is another item of interest in this model—Zenith's exclusive development which permits the tuning in of stations at the touch of a button.

"Bridge Secrets" a series conducted by Lyda Voorhies from WBZ, Springfield, last year, has again been brought to the public by that station. Weekly and monthly prizes are offered for solutions to problem hands.

BOSCH FOOLPROOF SAYS S. A. DEALER

The foolproof radios are here and radio fans say that one of them is the new Bosch, constructed in two sections, according to P. A. Martin, of the L. E. Martin radio store, Bosch dealer here. These two sections, Martin stated, are mounted on a chassis of pressed and cast aluminum, which assures strength and ruggedness. In commenting upon the other features of this set, Martin said: Selectivity and sensitivity conveyed to the detector of this great new receiver are of an advanced type, giving positively startling performance, in the judgment of owners.

In addition to Martin, the Hawley Radio service, the Marshall Radio service and the Chandler Furniture store handles the new Bosch here.

Ashford Gives Tip For Selection Of Speaker For Radio

For the prospective buyer, the selection of a good radio reproducer is fully as important as a good receiving set, according to Bill Ashford, proprietor of the Radio Den, Radiola dealers. Unless the reproducer is of the highest quality, the excellence of the best receiver will be wasted, he says.

"There are good speakers of various types on the market and the discriminating person will listen to demonstrations before making a decision. There are several things he may keep in mind in judging what he hears.

"One is that the voice, especially the male voice, is a better criterion than instrumental music. The average person can more easily tell whether a person is talking naturally than whether orchestral music is being reproduced naturally. The male speaking voice is capable of being transmitted with great naturalness and if it sounds unnatural as it emerges from the receiving equipment, the prospective buyer may be sure that the receiver or loud speaker, or both, are at fault. He may also be sure that music, too, would be distorted although such distortion would not be so obvious.

MEDICAL TALKS

The University of California, co-operating with the San Francisco County Medical association, is presenting a medical talk over station KPRC, every Monday. Questions and answers on general medicine are handled by D. H. M. F. Behneman.

SUCCESS OF RADIO IS DUE TO EDISON

Although practically everyone knows that Thomas A. Edison is the inventor of the phonograph, incandescent lamp and the motion picture camera, very few persons, indeed, realize that this same genius of the electrical industry discovered the fundamental principle on which all radio is based.

The writer was not acquainted with the fact, either, until Carl Strock, representative here for the Edison Radio, informed him. Edison, Strock declared, discovered the phenomenon caused by electric waves in free space, which he called "etheric force." Without knowledge of the "etheric force," it is pointed out, radio might never have been dreamed of.

In 1883 Edison, while experimenting with his incandescent lamp, made another discovery which plays a most important part in every radio set. He found that an independent wire or plate placed between the legs of the filament of an incandescent lamp acted as a valve to control the flow of current. It was termed the "Edison effect" and a patent was issued to him in 1883. This discovery covers the fundamental principle on which every radio tube is based.

PITS MAKE 'EM HARD

The K. O. Christner fellow, who hung the sleeper on Knute Hansen's chin recently, is anything but an inspiring fighter but he has a lot of natural color and back-ground.

He worked in the same pit in an Akron tire factory with Bob Martin and any man who serves time in those pits develops a terrific pair of hands and arms. Christner isn't a finished puncher, but he'll knock any man stiff that he tags on the chin with his right or left hand.

OKAY BY ME

Christner did a hitch in the regular army and was a top sergeant of one of the cavalry outfits that trailed behind "Black Jack" Pershing into Mexico. He is 34 years old, has two children and has been fighting only a year.

BETTER BE SMART, JACK

Jack Sharkey, if he fights as he should fight, ought to have no trouble beating Christner. He doesn't figure to knock him out. But if Sharkey gets cocky and smart as he did in the Dempsey

Many Greats Developed In Coast Prep Loop

MOHLER IS NOT ONLY 'WONDER' MAN PRODUCED

By GRIDDER

They have been calling Orv Mohler, the "Alhambra Assassin," the greatest high school back of the decade in Southern California and the finest football player ever turned out of the Coast Preparatory league, and they are not far from right, but young Mr. Mohler must keep right on being brilliant when he gets to the university of his choice if he holds up as the best collegiate prospect ever graduated from the circuit.

Some pretty fair country pigskin spinners have learned the rudiments of the great fall sport in the Coast Preparatory league and some of their names sound mightier now than Mohler's. For instance, Don Williams, Morley Drury, Don Hill, Lowry McCaslin, Russ Saunders, "Moon" Mullins, Bill Mittelstedt, Ray Dawson, Jim Cockburn, "Buddy" Forster, Bert Ritchey and Jimmy Musick need offer no apologies for their status in the eyes of the football world and it will be recalled that all of them gained their early training in this loop, certainly the fastest thing of its kind in the state.

Linesmen such as Corwin Artman, Louie Vincent, Charley Boren, John Fox, Ray Tandy, George Decker, "Rocky" Kemp, "Tut" Rister, Tom Mason, Ed Moeller, Cy West, Charley Ehrhorn, George Grey and "Patches" French have more than made good in college and more will be heard from some of them who even now are just beginning their college careers.

So, with all due respect to Mohler who most assuredly has compiled a better HIGH SCHOOL record than any of his predecessors, it might be well to assume a "watchful waiting" policy before he is termed the greatest prospect ever turned out of the circuit.

Ever since the Coast Preparatory league has been operating (six seasons) Eddie West, sports editor of The Register, has picked an All-League eleven. Football fans will get an interesting slant on the kind of football they play in the league by browsing through

Six Seasons Of All-Star Grid Squads

Nothing is more entertaining than browsing around among musty football records.

Below are the six All-Star football teams picked by The Register at the close of each season since the Coast Preparatory league has been in existence. Then make up your mind whether, as many assert, Orv Mohler, the great Alhambra back, is the best football player ever turned out of this speedy circuit.

LEO HERNANDEZ KAYOES CHAVEZ IN ROUND TWO

By RINGSIDER

The King is Dead! Long Live the King!
Zenaydo Chavez, whose trip hammer right hand made him ruler of all Western Amateur Athletic association welterweights for more than three months, went the eventual way of all champions last night.

He was "taken for a ride."

Leo Hernandez, long, lean and dangerous, knocked out Chavez in the second round of a furious main event at the Orange County Athletic club and became the titleholder and custodian of the W.A.A.A. gold belt.

And, like in most flistic scrapes where there is drama, the end came with half the house believing the dethroned king was prematurely counted out and that he was counted out while actually on his feet ready to resume the battle.

Mixing it with reckless abandon, the Santa Ana Mexican piled up a lead on points in the first round although Hernandez, a product of San Gabriel, was never in trouble. They were fighting on even terms early in the second when Hernandez beat Chavez to the punch, snapping over a terrific uppercut that nailed Zenaydo flush on the jaw and sent him sprawling on his back, unconscious.

Chavez, apparently out cold, lay very still until the count got to nine—then leaped to his feet, seemingly none the worse for his adventure. He rushed Hernandez and they waltzed around the ring for about 45 seconds with Leo connected solidly again and Chavez went down.

Referee Rutledge began the toll. Chavez, stretched out on the floor, scrambled upright when Rutledge got to ten but the official ruled he was still down at the last count and refused to allow the bout to continue. And the championship changed hands as many predicted it would in view of Chavez's late let-down in form.

The semi-windup really stole all the thunder from the sensational windup for Leonard Bennett, the new O.C.A.C. ace in the hole, found a real opponent in "Baby-Face" Johnny Nandez, the honest Anaheim lightweight. Bennett had too much steam on his punches for Johnny and won every round and the decision but Nandez mixed it freely and was not outclassed for a moment. It was one of the best bouts ever seen at Henry T. Foust's fancy clubhouse.

"Rube" Shaffer and Don Hill are either the bitterest of enemies or else they are the best actors in the rough and tumble wrestling racket. Grappling in a return engagement, they put on another spectacular roughhouse with Shaffer getting two out of three falls. He won the first and the third.

Hymie Rudin stopped Kid Barrelo in the third round of a hectic set-to. Kid Flores kayoed Pete Manila early in the first. Dave Palacio outpointed Connie Reed in a dazzling eye-opener.

There wasn't a single substitution and the well-filled house got a bang out of the whole show.

SON OF EVERS

Sons of famous ball players do not always show signs of future greatness, but it seems that Johnny Evers Jr., is one exception to the general rule. Young Evers, shown here as he trods about the campus at Georgetown in his freshman cap, played for four years on the Troy, N. Y., high school team and was quite the stuff in prep circles. He plays second base, like his daddy did for the Cubs many years ago.

SAINT VARSITY MAY GO SOUTH FOR HOOP TIF

Details almost but not quite have been worked out for an invasion of San Diego during the Christmas holidays by Coach Clyde Patton's Santa Ana high school varsity basketball squad. If arranged, the Saints, of course, would not meet Santa Diego high school but either

DONS VANQUISH RIVERSIDE FOR FIFTH IN ROW

Santa Ana junior college basketball players rested on the strength of five consecutive victories today and were under orders not to report for practice again until after Christmas, following their 27 to 13 victory over Riverside junior college in a non-conference tussle at Riverside last night.

After the game Coach Bill Foote announced that his undefeated co-opts will not assemble until the Wednesday after Christmas Day when practice will be resumed for four days at 5 p. m. each day.

Riverside made a basketball game out of it in the early part of the first half and even held a slight lead at one time but the powerful Don offense began to function in the second quarter and the local collegians were ahead, 17 to 7, by the half. They made 10 points to Riverside's 7 in the last half.

Merle Youel was high for the Dons with nine points. Tanaka and Kolokurst tarried the star forward with four each.

Bill Neufeld, former University of California all-around athletic star, coaches the inland city college and says his squad doesn't have much chance to getting anywhere in the conference race. Riverside lost virtually all of its lettermen at the end of last season.

The regular conference basketball schedule has been changed so that Santa Ana will play its first game a day earlier than it was so originally intended. A Pasadena conference champions in most branches of sport, will be here Friday night, January instead of January 5.

The lineup:
Santa Ana (27) Pos (13) Riverside
Preble (2).....F..... (2) Bliss
Tanaka (4).....F..... (4) Klech
Hogue (2).....C..... (2) Gully
White (2).....G..... (2) Rude
Dutton.....G..... (3) Powers

Substitutions:
Santa Ana—Youel (9), Kolokurst (4), Cook, Adams, Dewa, Valentine (2), Hafer (2), Sweetnam, Beatty, Riverside—Westhaver (3), Cooper (1).

Joe Martina, who has been playing in the Southern and Texas leagues for 22 seasons, was sold recently by New Orleans to Dallas.

Commission Bars Dundee From State

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20.—The state boxing commission's ban against Joe Dundee, welterweight champion, still stands.

Charlie Traung, chairman of the commission, so advised Willie Rooney, manager for Jackie Fields, when Rooney called Traung by long distance telephone from San Francisco.

Rooney endeavored to secure a match from Fields against Dundee in California. The boxing commission feels that Dundee and his manager, Max Waxman, were largely to blame for the fiasco a year ago when Dundee refused to go on with a scheduled bout with Ace Hudkins at Wrigley field.

DRAW PLANS TO INCREASE YANK PARK CAPACITY

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—The proposed enlargement of the Yankee stadium may be a reality in a year. Ed Barrow, business manager of the Yankees, announces that the Osborne Engineering company of Cleveland has been instructed to draw up the plans.

At present the stadium seats approximately 72,000 for baseball and 80,000 for football. The capacity of the enlarged plant will be 100,000 for baseball and 125,000 for boxing bouts.

The wooden bleachers in center field are to be replaced by concrete stands with an upper deck made of wood. If this arrangement allows enough light to play ball, a concrete upper deck will be substituted. The same procedure will be followed later with the wooden stands in right field. The upper decks are to be demolished if they shut off too much light from the field.

Eventually the "House that Ruth Built" will be a three-tiered structure without any gaps, according

AGREEMENT IS CONFESSED BY PROMOTOR TEX

By DAVIS J. WALSH (I.N.S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Jack Dempsey will fight once more for the heavyweight championship of the world in mid-September next and his opponent will be any one of four men, namely, Paolino, Young Stribling, Jack Sharkey or Tommy Loughran.

This was the story behind Rickard's quoted interview today in which the promoter admitted that he agreed on terms with Dempsey; that the latter would fight only once this year and that the public beyond question would recognize the winner of this fight as the champion.

The interview was one of those "off the record" affairs which stay out of the records but not out of the newspapers. Dempsey and Rickard will meet in Miami, Fla., during the first week in January and publicly arrive at an understanding. Their arrival already has been contrived, privately, even to the minimum purse and the type of opponent that will be "adequate." The latter, of course, cannot be determined in advance. But the story is that both Rickard and Dempsey believe the other man in there when the time comes will be one of the four named.

Another agreement tentatively arrived at was the date. Rickard always has favored a September evening for his big shots and this one won't be small. Dempsey's popularity alone should be worth $1,500,000 at the turnstiles. The only thing Dempsey is understood to have demanded, in addition to plenty of money, is plenty of time. He wants to make haste most gradually in his preparation and the September date will fix that.

While Rickard had his guard down, he named eight candidates who will start in the 1929 elimination tourney. The four mentioned, Loughran, Paolino, Sharkey and Stribling, are naturals. The other four will be Johnny Risko, the man who didn't; Philip Scott, the Running true to form, the Frances E. Willard junior high school Indians won from the high school Class C basketballs, 23 to 21, yesterday. Coaches "Swede" Lund and Clyde Cook took advantage of the practice scrimmage to send in all of their available talent.

Frances Willard was always in the lead although the little "Cees" came close several times to swiping the advantage. Coach Lund expects to have a fairly good team of cagers this winter and he has a wealth of material to choose from. The Saint "Cees" also look good. The starting lineup:

man who won't; Roberto Roberti, the man who hasn't, and Thomas Heeney, the man who can't. Just what is to be done about getting the eight gentlemen in question better acquainted, Mister Rickard neglected to state.

In fact, he was all wrought up over Mister Sharkey's innuendoes about his "management" of Dempsey, Paolino and Stribling and in his perturbation, he was prodigal of generalities and parsimonious of details. The man simply was in a high dudgeon and it was this state of affairs that caused him to break down and confess all about Dempsey.

"Sharkey seems to think he is heavyweight champion," said Mister Rickard, speaking from the portico of his dudgeon. No man can be champion until he licks Dempsey. The public would accept such a man and no other."

RICKARD CALLED BEFORE RING COMMISSION

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Tex Rickard has been summoned to appear before the New York boxing commission to explain his connection with Paolino Uzeudun, Jack Dempsey and Young Stribling as a result of the charges contained in a telegram which Jack Sharkey claims to have forwarded to the promoter. Sharkey charged that Rickard managed the boxing affairs of the trio and the commission feels that an explanation is in order.

Rickard merely laughed at the charges at his offices yesterday. "It's good publicity," he said. "Let Sharkey talk all he cares to. It won't do me any harm and it won't do him any good. Sharkey always was long on talking and short on fighting."

"It might have looked all right if Sharkey had left Paolino's name out of it. If I held controlling interest in Paolino, as Sharkey says, I wouldn't let him go to Europe and South America. I'd make him fight for me. He hasn't fought a bout under my promotion in more than a year."

Rickard said he was boosting Stribling because the Georgia heavyweight was the only man in his division not afraid to fight.

DEMPSEY TO BE JUDGE AT DOG TRACK

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20.—Jack Dempsey will receive approximately $80,000 for acting as presiding judge at the international dog races in Deauville, Fla., starting next month, an article in the Illustrated Daily News said today.

"Information here is that at least $2,000,000 will be spent on the track, casino and hotel," the article read. "Dempsey will be associated with Tex Rickard and three other wealthy men."

The article quoted the ex-heavyweight champion as saying that he would be too busy with judging the races to consider ring bids until the conclusion of Rickard's present annual heavyweight elimination contest.

"And when the elimination champion is known and duly publicized, Jack Dempsey will be ready to meet

GEORGIA TECH FOOTBALL TEAM EN ROUTE WEST

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 20.—Georgia Tech's football team started westward today for its post-season game with the University of California at the Tournament of Roses in Pasadena on New Year's day.

Coach Bill Alexander, 31 players, trainers, assistant coaches, newspaper men and members of the faculty filled the two special cars that will carry the Tech delegation to the coast.

The team will proceed to New Orleans where the coaches will be added to the Sunset Limited, of the Southern Pacific lines. Short workouts will be held at various stops along the route. The team is expected in Pasadena Sunday night.

The entire squad appeared fresh and ready for action when they boarded the train here. Alexander has been working his men lightly, believing them to be in top condition now.

FRANK BIRCH TO REFEREE JANUARY 1 GAME

PASADENA, Dec. 20.—Frank Birch, of Chicago, who refereed the Trojan-Notre Dame clash here, will officiate in the New Year's Day grid classic between California and Georgia Tech at the Rose Bowl.

Bill Strett (Alabama Poly), head linesman; Herbe Dana (Nebraska) umpire, and Tommy Fitzpatrick, field judge, will assist Birch in handling the battle.

Birch has a record of having officiated in all of the seven games played between Georgia Tech and Notre Dame.

BEARS ENTRAIN TONIGHT FOR PASADENA

fight he may get his jaw knocked loose.

He will also be yelling "Mama" if he gets a couple of pile drivers in his middle. Sharkey doesn't like 'em there. Hansen took a couple of them and just hated them. He tried to crawl out of the ring on a foul, but Kid McFarland, who was the referee, wouldn't let him.

"You're not going to get out of here on a foul, Hansen," the Kid told him and he didn't get out on a foul. He got out on the shoulders of his men.

HAVE A QUINCE, TOO

Hansen was goofy for two hours after the fight. He showed how goofy he was by the first remark he made when the fog began to lift.

"Do you want me to give you something nice, Whitey?" he asked his trainer. "Whitey" had visions of a nice gratuity or reward of some kind and he assured his man Hansen that he would like to be given something nice.

"That's fine," Hansen said. "I'll give you a nice red apple." Maybe he wasn't so goofy at that, when you think it over.

the San Diego Army and Navy academy or St. Augustine high school, probably the former. The game with San Diego high will take the local cagers south late in the league season.

The Santa Anas, however, first will officially open their season in Andrews gymnasium tomorrow night against Coach "Big Bill" Cole's Tustin high school quintet and a return engagement at Tustin next Wednesday. Coach Patton has had his troubles arranging practice sessions with Orange county high school aggregations.

It is early in the season but basketball prospects do not appear overly bright. Patton's material, while willing enough, is woefully inexperienced and has even been beaten in practice by the Class B team. Santa Ana always has been notoriously weak on the court, however, so nobody expects much and if Patton develops a winner he will be hailed as little short of a miracle man.

to the plans of the Yankee owners.

The axe fell on the Yankees a third time today and little Mike Gazella, utility infielder, was lopped off to Tris Speaker's New-ark club in the International league. Pat Collins and Joe Dugan previously had been discarded.

Gazella's release narrowed the field of Rookie candidates who will be fighting for the vacant infield berth on the New York team next spring. "Lucky Mike" will play third base for Newark, and he may bring a pennant to the Jersey town. In each of his six years in professional baseball—four with New York, one with Atlanta and one with St. Paul—he has played with a pennant-winner.

SAINT 'BEES' WIN GAME AT ANAHEIM

Although both coaches made so many substitutions that the matter of scorekeeping was a job worth a mathematical genius, Santa Ana high school's Class B basketball squad defeated Anaheim's "Bees," 25 to 22, in a practice set-to at Anaheim yesterday.

Coach Bill Cook started Sullivan and Herren at forwards, Lindley at center, and Erbe and Hall at guards. Sipple, Franz, Junkett, Shigkawa and Alsip started for the Colonists.

The Saints will start next against Julia C. Lathrop junior high school. It is understood. They beat Ferris Scott's crew by a large score but this was before the South Main street coach had his team much more than organized. They will clash sometime during the Christmas holidays.

HERE'S AMERICAN INFLUENCE IN JAPAN

Four Japanese girls, representing types of modern Nipponese femininity, are pictured above. The influence of the American flapper's ideas in dress is easily apparent.

Nippon Wives and Mothers Laugh at Idea That They Are Slaves

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth of a series by Percy Noel, internationally known traveler and writer, on Japan. Today Noel discusses the waning influence of the male and the rise of women in Japan.

TOKIO, Dec. 20.—Waseda University English club members, some 300 strong, were listening to a lecture by an American resident of Tokio.

"They think in America," said the lecturer, "that the Japanese wife and mother is nothing more than a servant and a very servile slave at that."

As one man the students burst into a loud guffaw. They had never heard anything funnier than that. For in Japan women prefer age to youth, for the power that comes with it. They rule not only at home, but the household also, oftener than man.

Male Bluff

In these days of modernism and westernism, men fight hard to retain even a shallow veneer of superiority. They put up a bolsterous bluff. You can hardly mention any woman to a man without his comment being gruff or derogatory.

But this is self-defense. He knows that in spite of their social handicaps—or is it perhaps because of them?—the women of Nippon have got the upper hand.

Some idea of the spirit of these poor, down-trodden Japanese wives of western fancy can be gained when they are in their own element, say, in a big department store in the vicinity of a bargain table. The supposedly weaker sex, from 25 years of age upwards—the vigor increasing with the years—will almost walk on the face of any man who dares to wish to make a purchase.

Can these be the same women whom one sees bowing their heads to the mats when he enters a friend's home, one wonders? The same women whose outward abnegation brings tears to the eyes of one's tender-hearted American sisters? No question about it. They are.

Or, take an elderly servant of female sex. If she is an Oba-san, with a broad "a," that means she is a grandmother. She is "boss." Her work as a servant will be chiefly to tell you, a mere, middle-aged man, what to do and when to do it. Should you question her authority, she may remind you with menace in her voice: "I am Oba-san—grandmother."

Real Tyrants

The real tyrants—except for showcase display—are not men but women. The husband who has married into a family and gone to his bride's house to live, suffers from the mother-in-law domination just as much as a woman whose marriage takes her into the house of a despotic mother-in-law.

To avoid these household tyrants, many modern young couples move to another city where mothers and grandmothers will not go, and live more agreeably. Under these conditions there are many happy young wives, much as they are found in country and small towns in the United States, with husbands devoted to them and their children, and who never dream of a night out with the boys or a few drinks on the way home.

The typical Japanese husband gets his greatest pleasure with his children, his wife—home. In the United States "husbands who are tied to their wives' apron strings," as the saying used to run, may be

Face Disfigured.
Healed by Cuticura.

"I was bothered very much with pimples all over my face. They would come and go, and my face was in that condition for about two years. The pimples were very itchy at times, and annoying when I appeared in public. My face was disfigured."

"I tried many other remedies without success. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and after the first week could see a wonderful change, and in about five weeks I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Frances L. King, 1056 E. 88th St., Seattle, Wash., Feb. 21, 1928.

rarer than 20 years ago, but they are commoner in Japan.

The most casual observer will see that in Japan woman is the hand behind the gun. In almost any shop it is she who handles the money—always, where husband and wife are on the usual basis of quasi-equality.

Runs Ranch

Even if there is a husband in the office, it is the wife who runs the Japanese hotels. And no matter where, the senior female may be depended upon to assume direction of an interior, no matter how many men there are about.

Wives do not like—and do not permit—their husbands to poke into their household affairs. A husband dares not venture into the kitchen where his wife, with or without servants' help, does the work. The only cooking man is permitted to be on a Japanese chafing dish, when his wife indulgently tries to give the impression that this is something he can do better than she.

The wife still believes—in Nippon—that it is a very important part of her job in life to see that her husband is properly looked after when he is at home. She will bring him his food, help him on and off with his clothes, keep his possessions in the perfect order which he—being a man—is incapable of, send him to work in the morning with smiles and bows and no matter how late he comes back, welcome him the same way. She would not be able to tell why she does it, were you to ask her, and would only wonder—why shouldn't she?

To PEP UP a SLUGGISH MOTOR...

PAN-AM MOTOR CLEANING MACHINE

(Osborne Process, U.S. Pat. No. 1,633,283, Other Pats. Pend.)

Any car will run better if the crankcase is clean. There is only one practical way to thoroughly clean out the accumulation of muck, carbon particles and metal filings that collect in the crankcase of every car, preventing efficient lubrication and causing corrosive acids and carbon scum to be carried in suspension throughout the motor and oil lines! ... The Pan-Am Motor Cleaning Machine! This machine loosens and removes carbon from under piston heads and forces every bit of foreign matter out of oil lines and crankcase. "Flushing" gets only 32% of this by actual test! "Draining" is even less effective! Only the Pan-Am Motor Cleaning Machine gives a 100% clean motor!

PAN-AM MOTOR OIL

Here is the motor oil that pep up sluggish motors by preventing loss of power! It maintains a tough heat-resisting, cold-defying film of oil between cylinder walls and piston rings, thus forming the famous "perfect seal" you've heard about. Pan-Am Motor Oil does not form hard carbon. It doesn't "thicken up" on cold mornings... it flows freely and lubricates instantly. Try it for a month and see how much smoother and more quietly your motor runs with Pan-Am in the crankcase!

GREEN PAN-GAS

This is the final step in securing "1-2-3, GO" performance from sluggish motors! Pan-Gas has "a barrel of pep in every gallon" but not a drop of dope. It is a real anti-knock gasoline that insures perfect performance from high-compression motors...and yet does not subject the standard-type motor to strains it was not designed to bear. Green Pan-Gas is non-poisonous and will not pit nor burn valves. It "snaps up" the performance of your car... assuring quick start, plenty of power and smooth pick-up.

EXCLUSIVELY FOR OUR CUSTOMERS!

The Pan-Am Motor Cleaning Machine Service was designed and made available exclusively for our customers... users of Pan-Am Motor Oil! This service is free. You pay only for the fresh oil and cleaning lubricant used. This cleaning lubricant is 100% lubricating oil and not a "cutting agent." If your dealer is not equipped to give you Pan-Am Motor Cleaning Machine service any Pan-American Service Station will gladly direct you to dealers near you who are.

Christmas Party, Dance For Ebell Juniors Planned

Plans are moving apace for the annual Christmas party and dance for Ebell young people that is always greeted as one of the outstanding events of the holiday season. First arrangements for the function, to be held December 29, and which bids fair to be as brilliant and as colorful as those of preceding years were made yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the patronesses of the party and the Ebell board members, who gathered at the Ebell clubhouse.

The very young children of Ebell members will be entertained in the afternoon when a Christmas tree will be the center of attraction. At this time a series of games will be played and refreshments will be served.

Patronesses of the afternoon's party include Mrs. Ralph Smedley, Mrs. Robert G. Tuthill, Mrs. Helen Hill, Mrs. C. V. Davis, Mrs. R. R. Miles, Mrs. C. E. Downie, Mrs. Roy Russell, Mrs. Nat Neff, Mrs. W. W. Anderson and Mrs. Clyde Bach.

The dance for Ebell juniors of high school and college age will be held in the evening from 8:30 o'clock until 11:30 o'clock. A popular orchestra will provide music for the affair and during the evening, punch and wafers will be served.

Any member of Ebell may procure tickets for the dance for her children and their guests, as each young person is allowed to bring one guest, through Mrs. Terry Stephenson and Mrs. Joseph H. Metzgar.

Patrons and patronesses of the dance include Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lentz, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Walker, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sprague, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mosher, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Herr, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Knox, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Stephenson, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Metzgar, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Haddon, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. DeWolfe, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Ferrey, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Newman, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hatzfeld, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Plumb, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Wilson, and Miss Louise Tubbs.

Members of the board of directors of the society are sponsors of the dance. They include Mrs. W. S. Bartlett, Mrs. F. E. Coulter, Mrs. W. H. Harrison, Mrs. Frank Peterson, Mrs. Ralph Smedley, Miss Norma Winwood, Mrs. W. H. Haddon, Mrs. W. H. DeWolfe, Mrs. W. B. Williams, Mrs. Cood Adams, Mrs. Emerson Marks, Mrs. E. D. White, Mrs. W. I. Ferrey and Mrs. Charles Carothers.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

If you decide to try the Cottage Fruit Cake published yesterday you will want an easily-made icing for it: You might try this soft chocolate frosting, spread very generously.

SOFT CHOCOLATE FROSTING

1 square Baker's chocolate
Thin cream
6 drops almond extract
2 tablespoons melted butter
Powdered sugar
1-2 teaspoon vanilla

Cut up the chocolate and slowly melt it with the butter, take from the fire when soft and rub smooth with a tablespoonful of cream; begin adding the powdered sugar, mixing the frosting stiff, then thinning it down with cream and again adding sugar, until you have enough to frost the cake. Add the flavorings and spread on cake.

Do you sift powdered sugar when making such frostings? It quickens the making of the frosting and produces a smoother result. For the above recipe I use about half a pound package of sugar and about 5 tablespoons of cream.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Dutch Stuffing for Turkey
1 loaf milk bread (stale)
1 pint rich milk
4 eggs
1-4 pound butter
Salt and paprika

—Contributed.

I will quote the contributor's directions as I have them: "Use stale milk bread, broken in very small bits—crust included. For each loaf use a pint of rich milk—or half milk and half cream; 4 eggs and 1-4 pound of butter.

"Melt the butter in a large pot and fry the bread over a low fire, stirring constantly (if left an instant will burn). When the bread is golden brown remove from the fire, stir in the milk, then the well-beaten eggs, and season to taste with salt and paprika.

"Do not fill the bird too full (inside and breast) as eggs make the dressing swell. Bread shrinks amazingly in frying and 3 loaves are required for a large turkey or goose; one loaf will fill a chicken, rabbit or pair of wild ducks. Do not use more milk than the bread will absorb but it must be moist. The stuffing is rich and delicious, light as good cake, and gold and brown in color."

I can hardly believe that the author of this recipe intended we should double all the ingredients when more bread is used. The butter might be increased by half, the eggs by 1 more, and the milk left to your discretion.

Yes, I am sure than 2 tablespoons of this dressing will total all of 100 calories, but isn't it good? The lady who sent it to me said that it had come down in her family from a Holland-Dutch grandmother. I thank her for sharing it with the Mixing Bowl-ers.

Popular Vocalist Will Sing at Dedication

Popular Vocalist Will Sing at Dedication

Madame Manuela Budrow, one of the city's most popular vocalists, is to sing "Infant Jesus" Sunday morning when the beautiful new pipe organ in the Community church at Costa Mesa will be dedicated. The Rev. Lyman Bayard is pastor of the church.

Sunday evening Madame Budrow will be the soloist at the First Presbyterian church in this city when the annual Christmas program will be presented.

The popular songstress has announced that during the coming season she is planning extensive concert work and that she will be working under L. E. Behlmer, Los Angeles impresario.

Bridge Luncheon Among Delightful Social Events

One of the prettiest of the season's yuletide parties was the bridge luncheon with which Mrs. R. Foster Lamme of 1124 North Olive street entertained a group of friends yesterday.

Tall red candles centered each of the card tables where the luncheon was served and on a fourth table was a gayly decorated Christmas tree at the foot of which was a fascinating package for each guest.

Attractive prizes were presented Mrs. Ernest Leue and Mrs. Herbert Nall at the close of the afternoon's bridge games as they were the holders of the highest scores.

Guests of Mrs. Lamme included Mrs. Howard Rapp, Mrs. B. V. Curry, Mrs. Thomas Trawick, Mrs. Ernest Leue, Mrs. Herbert Nall, Mrs. R. A. Tiernan, Mrs. Harriett Lane, Mrs. Paul Ragan, Mrs. W. J. Kelso, Mrs. Ellis, Mrs. William Paxton and Mrs. Claudia Worswick.

Interesting Program Is Presented at S. A. Conservatory

Five talented young girls, the Misses Elizabeth Crawford, Margaret Rust, Kathryn Benham, Marguerite Reafsynder and Wilma Silver, comprising a class in study of famous composers, under the direction of Holly Lash Vissel, presented an unusually interesting program Tuesday night at Santa Ana Conservatory of Music.

The method adopted by Mrs. Vissel with the class, is to devote from four to six weeks to each composer, and then exemplify his work and life in the program given for the friends of the students. Last night's subject was George Frederick Handel, and Miss Reafsynder presented a very interesting paper which told of his life and accomplishments up to the time when he became a naturalized Englishman and made London his home.

Miss Benham continued the story of his life from that point until his death, and then a program of all-Handel numbers was given by various guest artists. Cecil Fross Willets, Ellis Rhodes, Miss Lorene Croddy and Miss Hazel Smith gave a succession of beautifully rendered vocal solos, and Miss Eva Ramsey played piano selections with that splendid technique for which she is noted. The program closed with the singing of the Hallelujah Chorus from "The Messiah" by the class and guest artists.

Mrs. Kate McCullah and Miss Ramsey alternated as accompanists for the song numbers. Mrs. G. H. Goodale of Anaheim assists in conducting the class by lecturing before it twice a month. The latest program preceding that of last night, was given a month ago on Palastina and Bach.

A trio of three members of the class sang last Sunday before the Men's Community Bible class with Mrs. E. W. McGaffey as accompanist. They were the Misses Lorene Croddy, Wilma Silver and Margaret Rust. Miss Kathryn Benham and her cousin, Miss Maxine Oldcomb are to sing next Sunday morning for the Christmas program of the same class, and have chosen "On Christmas Day" and "Silent Night" for their numbers. Mrs. McGaffey will accompany them.

Yuletide Dinner Is Happy Event

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Gerrard were hosts Tuesday night at a delightful dinner party held at their home on South Parton street. Covers were laid at the table, gay with the reds and greens of yuletide, for Mr. and Mrs. Gerrard, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Vance, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Mitchell, Phillip Gerrard, Myron Gerrard, Jack Gerrard, Lewis Gerrard, Lester Gerrard, Miss Phyllis Gerrard, and Miss Myrtle Gerrard.

Christmas Spirit Reigns At Annual G. R. Banquet

The true spirit of Christmas presided over the banquet last night of Santa Ana's Girl Reserves, that was held at the American Legion hall and Mrs. J. B. Yager, who was secretary of the organization before her marriage, pointed out the many ways in which the Christmas spirit was marked at the banquet.

Mrs. Yager told how the friendliness that prompted the annual Christmas affair was the happiest way to celebrate the true meaning of the King's birthday.

All of the gay decorations of the yuletide, a Christmas tree, vivid poinsettias, bright holly, a spray of which was at each place, greenery of various kinds, and clever little nut baskets in red and green, were found in the table appointments.

Miss Marian Parsons, inter-club president, acted as toastmistress and she introduced Mrs. Yager as well as the several musicians who assisted in presenting the program. They were the Misses Emmalena Richards and Peggy Warburton who gave a violin duet, Miss Ruth Swanson, pianist, and Miss Florence Pollock who, with her mother acting as accompanist, sang a lovely Christmas solo.

The evening's program was concluded with the singing of carols and Girl Reserve hymns.

Miss Dorothy Cartwright, Girl Reserve secretary, arranged the banquet with a group of Girl Reserves assisting her. They were Miss Grace Marcher, Miss Enid Bolles, Miss Marjorie Adams, and Miss Evelyn Hardy.

Homecoming Dance of Junior College Gay Affair

True to its calling, the Christmas homecoming dance of the junior college held at the Orange Women's clubhouse in Orange Wednesday night welcomed to its brilliant gaily scores of alumni who have been returning home during the past few days from colleges and universities throughout California.

Gay streamers of red and green and a Christmas tree bearing pretty decorations lent a holiday atmosphere to the occasion. The girls in evening dresses of delicate pastel tints added a wealth of color to the scene. Favors consisted of candy canes tied with bows of black ribbon to carry out the college colors of scarlet and black. Miss Ruth Bradley presided over the punch bowl.

Edwin Gerhardt, assisted by Miss Adeline Mueller was in charge of the affair. Committees working under them were headed by the Misses Marcia Keeler and Ruth Bradley and Robert Chapman.

Chaperones for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Terry Stephenson, Mrs. Eleanor Northcross, Mr. and Mrs. George Holmes, Miss Agnes Todd Miller and Miss Mabel Whiting.

Glee Club of Auxiliary Of American Legion Is Entertained

Mrs. James Utt of Lemon Heights and Miss Clarice Cummings of this city were complimented recently when Mrs. Elmer Schaniel entertained for them at James' Confectionery.

Guests at the affair were members of the glee club of the American Legion auxiliary who gathered for the delightful supper and shower following the usual song practice at the Legion hall.

Miss Cummings' marriage to Robert Perrin, also of Santa Ana, is to be an event of January.

Guests of Mrs. Schaniel included Miss Cummings, Mrs. Utt, Mrs. Thomas Willis, Mrs. Kay Rasmussen, Mrs. Ruth Garrison, Mrs. Lucille White, Mrs. Dean Collier, Mrs. Don Mozley, Miss Lila Ritter, Miss Gladys Young, Mrs. Fred Harber, Mrs. Juanita Tella, Mrs. George Parker, Mrs. Andrew Lykko, Miss Marjorie Rawlings, Mrs. Jean Thorman, Mrs. A. The WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE SUMNER

"The woman question" pops out in the new books. Not the old question as to whether woman may have home and career, or home or career; not lambasting at the "new woman" and a showing of the bog into which her tender feet will fall. The autumn novelist merely seems to be more interested in women than men, and weaves all sorts of themes about her.

Quite the most interesting of them all to me is Mary, known in her community on the gulf as "Si-May-e," in "Scarlet Sister Mary" by Julia Peterkin. Mary is apricot colored, maybe a little darker than that—more like a lusciously ripe purple plum, and "Si-May-e" has more abundant personality than any heroine encountered in fiction for a long time.

The love of Mary's life is one July, loafer and roustabout, and much less of a catch as a husband than his brother, June. But Mary loves July and weds him to the incense of corn pone and possum in the gray. Her cup of happiness is running over when her little son christened Unexpected or Unex for short, is born.

DESERTING PARENT
Parental responsibilities set too heavily upon July's broad shoulders and he hies himself away from the plantation to the river boats. Fiction offers no competition to Julia Peterkin's presentation of Mary, a woman crushed by loss of love; the futility of living grips Mary in its clutches.

But Mary is the eternal mother; she is maternally so incarnate that even the plantation does not question over-much her right to what she calls a "cabinful of young-uns." The plantation knows that "Si-May-e's young-uns" are the strongest, pestiest kids on the gulf, and that's that.

Mary has her progeny in singles, doubles, even triples! never does she make any more about one more child. They are her reason and only reason for living. Her vitality, her super-maternalism, her come-back from the land of crushed spirits to a land of joy where she, too, sings at the cotton picking and jokes even when turned out of church, make Mary an unforgettable figure, and her strength of character as she slams the door in July's face when, years later, he comes back, is one of the finest scenes in fiction.

Then, in another scale of living, is Patricia Gordon in Hamilton Gibb's "Harness." This is a story of one of those made-in-heaven marriages, with the newlyweds ensconced in a made-in-heaven cottage with flagstone walk and brass knocker on a door as old as King Alfred, with pewter and brass and a yellow cat. It's a story of what happens when two much idyllic love makes men and women cry for roast beef rare in the way of a job.

Pat gets her job and Michael has his; at first, it's hunky-dory till Pat's job gets to be much more important to her than the cottage and Michael and his job, though he glories in her achievement on the stage. But it all works out.

ANOTHER CLASS
Then there's Lily Christine in Michael Arlen's book by the name, also called "A Good Woman." Lily's tragedy is one, too, of blind love lavished on a husband whom other men do not hesitate to dislike and call "no good." Pat Somerset, the husband, falls terribly in love with "a good woman"—a brittle, scheming, conventional-minded woman who insists that Pat divorce Lily. She will not marry a man whom another woman has divorced.

Lily Christine's heart is broken, not so much from personal grief and hurt pride as from her complete appreciation of the fact that Pat himself is miserable and baffled and caught in the grip of something he resents, but against which he is powerless.

Lily Christine is a significant heroine because, even like "Si-May-e" she does not cry out but takes her dose even though she can't take it.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

The winding up of toys galore to make them run across the floor was heaps of fun. The Tinymites were busy as could be. "Just look," cried Coppy. "I have found a cart that runs, and whirrs around. I wound it up real tight, and then it started chasing me."

Soon Santa came along and said, "Come now, it's time to go to bed. You've tried out all the toys in here. It seems they're quite all right." They followed him with not a peep, crawled into bed and went to sleep. They were so tired they didn't hear old Santa say, "Good night."

Then, morning came and up they jumped, and how their hearts just thumped and thumped as Santa told them, "Now we'll see how Christmas bulbs are made. They're things folks hang upon a tree. You might help make these things, but see, you folks are pretty tiny and I'm just a bit afraid."

A dwarf was found, not far away. He shouted loud, "Come watch me play. I'm blowing things for Christmas trees. Don't touch them 'cause they're hot." A bulb was held tight in his hand. 'Twas flaming red and looked real grand. The dwarf then smiled and said, "Each bulb will please a tiny tot."

"Oh, I know how we'll have some fun," cried Scouty. "When these things are done, we'll hang them up and pack them, if the dwarf does not object." The dwarf then shouted, "Go ahead. Tuck each one in a downy bed. Of course, you might expect."

So all the Tinymites turned loose and put their little hands to use. The ornaments for Christmas trees were packed in safe and sound. As every box was filled up tight, 'twas taken by a Tinymite out of the little workshop and then piled up on the ground.

You'll be surprised at what the Tinymites do in the next story. (Copyright, 1928, NEA Service, Inc.)

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

The ladies of the missionary society were preparing to pack the annual Christmas box to go to the Orphan's Home designated by the Central Board.

In the letter that came from the secretary was this suggestion:

"This home is in a very poor section of mountain country and is greatly in need of the common necessities of life. We suggest that your gifts for the children take the form of clothes and food. You need have no fear that the children will be disappointed for most of them haven't the slightest conception of toys. Anything you send will be appreciated."

When the corresponding secretary of the society had finished reading the letter she sat down and the president rose to ask for remarks.

They were forthcoming to the effect that twenty-nine of the ladies agreed most emphatically. Some of them even went a step further and suggested that if the place were as poor as it was painted old clothes would be as welcome as new, and why not send the cash to the heathen across the sea, and forage all their contributions to the orphans' Christmas from the clothes closets at home.

It was then that Mrs. Riley got up. Mrs. Riley was janitress of the church. She had eight children, no husband, and washed for the missionary ladies on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays of each week. On Fridays she washed for herself; on Saturdays she cleaned the church, and on Sundays she alternately fired up the cellar, and slipping off her big apron, sat and dozed in the back pew during the service.

Today was Wednesday. She worked for Mrs. Adams only half a day on Wednesdays which gave her time off for the missionary

EAT THE THEATRE

YOST BROADWAY

In a scene that was awe-inspiring by its very size, and occurring in a huge open-air theater with innumerable thousands of spectators, "Jazz Mad," Universal's great film sensation, which opened at the Yost Broadway theater yesterday, ended its story in one of the most dramatic climaxes ever presented on the screen.

Photographing this tremendous scene can be classed among the marvels of filmdom and the skillful direction of P. Harmon Weight in handling the large crowd of people has given the public a sequence of unusual dramatic value.

Jean Hersholt as Franz Hausmann, a German composer, gives the greatest characterization among the many he has portrayed during his long career. He played the part with sympathy and feeling and just the right amount of restraint. Hersholt, after this performance, may be classed with the top few of the screen's great character actors.

Marian Nixon as Elsa, his daughter, gives an admirable performance. It is one of her most charming among the many that meeting and to dust up for prayer meeting.

Mrs. Riley got up ponderously, and looking round slowly at the circle of ladies she fixed them with an accusing eye.

"Ladies!" she said simply, folding her ample hands over her ample stomach. "Ladies!" Then she sat down.

Up popped the president. "Mrs. Riley is right," she said. "If those children never had a toy it's time they had some. We'll pack two boxes."

And thanks to the Irish woman those orphans in the distant mountain home got the taste of Christmas magic that all children have a right to. Don't be too matter of fact in what you give to children. Christmas should be gay.

she has played here. George Lewis as her sweetheart also achieves and excellent portrayal. The two offer many romantic scenes of great beauty.

The story is of Franz Hausmann, a musical composer, who fails to sell his symphony, for which he had come to the United States from Germany. When he has descended to playing in a comedy jazz orchestra to earn a living, his daughter arranges to have his composition played by one of New York's famous orchestras. This revives his spirit and helps win back his former prestige as well as gaining his daughter's happiness.

WEST COAST-WALKER

What is believed by Paramount studio executives and hundreds of reviewers to be one of the most pretentious screen products of the season is offered to Walker theater patrons with Erich von Stroheim's production "The Wedding March."

The filming of the picture consumed more than six months of concentrated effort and the result has been a picture of Vienna life in story, color and sound.

The sequences laid in and before the great St. Stephen's cathedral in Vienna during the celebration of Corpus Christi required the assistance of more than 2100 persons and resulted in scenes of the utmost magnificence. These sequences are reproduced on the screen in colors of rare beauty and, with new Paramount sound effects, the whole combines to produce an unusually interesting and inspiring portrayal.

The hundreds of uniforms worn by the mounted soldiers were actually secured in Vienna and are the original costumes worn by members of the famous Mounted Guards regiment. In the Corpus Christi sequence, the carriage occupied by the late Emperor Franz Josef, imported from Austria in spite of united opposition on the part of loyal Austria, is used.

The sound effects accompany the action throughout the picture to add to the realism and beauty of the story.

It is estimated that the interest alone on the debts owed by 40 governments to the United States represents the wages of five million workers.

Enormous numbers of pythons and lizards are being killed, especially in the East Indies, so their skins may become leather.

Guard Your Health!

During this season of infectious colds, medical authorities advise observance of these simple rules--

---Do not permit the body to become chilled.

---Keep the house comfortably warm throughout but not above 70. Overheated rooms are as dangerous to health as rooms that are not heated sufficiently. If you are susceptible to a cold, going from a warm room to one that is cold and damp may be unwise.

---Give special care to the cleanliness of hands. Frequent washing with hot water and soap will help protect you from the danger in handling objects that have been handled by others with infectious colds.

---Be careful with whom you shake hands. If they have colds wash your hands as soon thereafter as possible.

---Provide adequate ventilation in all sleeping rooms.

---Drink plenty of water and make daily use of Southern California citrus fruit. Hot lemonades are especially valuable.

---Maintain your custom of frequent bathing but do not rush from an over-heated bathroom to colder air.

---Try to avoid dressing and undressing in cold bedrooms.

---If you do acquire an infectious cold, be thoughtful of others—muffle every cough and sneeze.

---Call a competent physician before a cold threatens serious illness. If your temperature is above normal do not delay in seeking medical advice.

$65,275 Bridge Contracts Let At Newport Beach

LICENSE DATA IS SOUGHT BY CITY COUNCIL

NEWPORT BEACH, Dec. 20.—A special committee was appointed by the city council last night to investigate license agreements filed in petitions asking that Lido company and the Western Light-Thing company agents for King light standards, which have been specified in petitions asking that Lido be improved. City Attorney Roland Thompson recommended that the license agreements be refused by the council.

The agreements from the Warrenton Paving company had been altered and Thompson reported that the place the company would deliver materials was not specified. The council wishes an agreement with a radius of one mile specified for the delivery of materials. A difference in price of light post agreement was responsible for the recommendation that the agreement on that article be disapproved.

J. J. Wilson, representative of Lido Isle developers, and Chris Oleson, representative of the Warrenton company, addressed the council. Oleson contended that the license agreements were regular. Wilson asked that the council authorize the city engineer to start work on the plans and specifications for the improvements.

City Engineer R. L. Patterson reported that about five and a half months would be consumed in preliminary work. A motion was adopted instructing the engineer to prepare plans and specifications for the improvements in accordance with the petition filed by subject to modifications and to file them with the council for approval. A new bond is to be submitted to the city clerk and attorney within the next few days to cover the work. The bond furnished last night was deemed insufficient protection. City councilman Paul Ellsworth cast the only vote against the move.

Marine Band At Laguna Receives Fund

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 20.—Aid for the Marine band, which has made a call for assistance, came from an unexpected quarter when the school board decided to give $50 a month for musical instruction, classes to be held in the school house. James E. Son, band leader, is to be instructor, it is expected, though this has not been definitely decided.

The Lions have voted $5 a month to help the band, the American Legion auxiliary has promised $1 a month, and the Woman's Relief corps has offered $2 to the band.

Later, after considerable discussion had been held over the license agreement matter, it was decided to refer the agreements to a special committee composed of Mayor Mark Johnson, City Engineer Patterson and City Attorney Roland Thompson. Councilman Ellsworth again opposed the measure.

The council ordered the purchase of a rain gauge and a thermometer. The matter was brought to the attention of the body by G. C. Macleod, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

FISH STANDS TO BE ERECTED BY CITY COUNCIL

NEWPORT BEACH, Dec. 20.—John Simpson and company, low bidders on two bridges to be constructed on Balboa island, were last night awarded the contracts for building of the structures. The contracts were let at a special meeting of council called for that purpose. The Simpson bid was $65,275.30 for both bridges. The next lowest bidder was C. J. Kubach with a figure of $70,402.80. The engineer's estimate of the cost was about $80,000.

A solid floor, fish cleaning table, sinks with running water and small uniform stands where each fisherman may dispose of his wares probably will be constructed on the beach near the Newport pier soon. A committee headed by Councilman Paul Ellsworth last night reported that a meeting had been held between fishermen and the city committee and that it was believed the best plan was for the city to construct the floor and the stands.

Ellsworth pointed out that in this manner the stands could be kept neat and uniform. A monthly license fee of $2.50 was agreeable to the fishermen, he explained. The charge is to be made until the cost of the improvements is paid and then the rental will be reduced. The action was brought about by recent complaints by the state drug and food inspector and the state health department. The cost of the improvements on the beach will not exceed $600, it is believed. City Engineer R. L. Patterson was instructed to prepare plans and specifications and an estimate of cost and submit them to the council for approval.

E. G. Sherman and L. S. Wilkinson were appointed to the city planning commission to fill positions on that body for the next six years. Both have been members of the committee. The appointments were made by the mayor.

A petition for a pier to be constructed in front of the new boat house now under construction for Bruce Randall and son was referred to the city engineer.

A petition asking that the sidewalk be widened for a distance of one block between Twenty-second and Twenty-third streets in Newport Beach on Coast boulevard was read and referred to the city engineer. J. H. Estus, Curly Tripp and Mrs. Meares, owners of property in the block, presented the petition. It is planned to widen the walk two feet, taking the space off the street, which is paved to a width of 40 feet at the point.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

ORANGE PASTOR ACCEPTS CALL TO HIGHLAND PARK

ORANGE, Dec. 20.—The Rev. Earle Pierce Cochran, pastor of the Presbyterian church here for the past two years and a half, has accepted a call to the Highland Park Presbyterian church. The Rev. Mr. Cochran presented his resignation at a meeting of the board of directors of the church last night.

The Highland Park Presbyterian church is one of the largest in that city. Negotiations have been under way for some time to secure the services of the Orange pastor for the church and members of the church have been in this city on a number of occasions to hear sermons delivered by the Rev. Mr. Cochran. It is understood that the salary offered by the Highland Park church was $7250.

The Rev. Mr. Cochran is a native of Kentucky. He received his education in California and is a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley and of the San Francisco Theological school. Before coming to Orange he was pastor of the Presbyterian church in Alameda. The Rev. Mr. Cochran is an accomplished singer and musician and has given talks on negro spirituals at a number of places in Southern California.

ORANGE SHOW OFFICIALS AT EXCHANGE MEET

NEWPORT BEACH, Dec. 20.—Members of the San Bernardino Exchange club furnished the program at the local club luncheon in the American Legion hall yesterday noon. Twenty-two members of the San Bernardino club and entertainers were present. The delegation was headed by Harry Joyce, president of the club, and red Duffy, past president and district governor.

Gene Douglas, president of the Santa Ana club and several other visitors were present at the session. Talks by Duffy, Joyce, Royal H. Mack, secretary-manager of the National Orange show at San Bernardino; E. M. Gore, publicity director for the show and musical numbers by Ralph Zaiser, Mrs. Helen O'Denning and Joseph Hickey featured the session.

That California is the second state in the number of active Exchange clubs was the declaration of Duffy. Michigan is the only other state boasting more clubs. There are 83 clubs in California, he said. The district governor also touched on the work done by the Exchange organizations and invited the Newport Beach club members to San Bernardino to attend a meeting of the club there.

Charles Gassoway, chairman of the entertainment committee for the San Bernardino club, presented Mrs. O'Denning and Joseph Hickey in accordance and violin selections. Ralph Zaiser played piano selections and several club songs were sung.

That the main aim of the National Orange show is to educate the people of the United States to think of oranges when they think of California, was the statement of Royal Mack. Mack told of the publicity work connected with the show and of the effects of pictures taken of President Coolidge accepting a prize box of oranges from the National show last year. Mack extended an invitation to the Newport Beach club to be present at the show in a body on February 18, which has been set aside as Exchange club day. Exchange clubs throughout Southern California will be invited to the event on that date. An attendance cup will be given to the club having the most representatives.

BEACH SECTION IN PROTEST ON SEWER REPORT

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 20.—Protesting against the advice which R. F. Goudy, resident engineer of the state bureau of sanitary engineering has given, the Arch Beach sanitary district has sent a resolution of protest to the bureau and to Mr. Goudy.

Asserting that the engineer has made the statement that "sanitary conditions, particularly at Arch Beach, are becoming intolerable," and "that an emergency exists," the directors of the district have adopted a resolution in which it is claimed that the statement is without foundation of truth, that no complaints of "intolerable conditions" have been brought to the notice of the board, and that the statement is a slur upon a beautiful section of the city.

The resolution also directs attention to the fact that the source of valid and accurate information as to sanitary conditions is the Arch Beach sanitary board.

A letter to the board of sanitary engineering which accompanies the resolution states that complaints of an anonymous character have been made and that they lack validity.

The resolution is said to be the outgrowth of the sewer disagreement which has agitated the Arch Beach section of the city for several months. Proponents of the sewer have placed complaints before the state bureau, it is alleged, which have resulted in letters being sent to the city protesting against conditions and urging that sewers be placed in that portion of the city.

Laguna has a sewer system from Boat canyon to Sleepy Hollow, embracing the business section of the city and that portion known as the Cliffs, but there is none in the more sparsely settled McKnight's addition nor in Arch Beach. It is in the latter that the need is alleged to be greatest, a statement warmly disputed by many who live there.

The recently formed Tax Payers' league was given its initial impetus by the sewer controversy.

Laguna Beach Ready For Yule Event

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 20.—Arrangements for the Community Christmas tree and baskets for needy families, have virtually been completed, with the last call for funds made this week. About $50 was required the first of the week, but some of this was raised at once, and it is expected that there will be an ample fund by Saturday evening, the date set for the program and distribution of candies to the children.

The program will consist of tableaux prepared by Wayne Moore and Christmas music and songs by school children.

The commercial apple crop of Canada this year is estimated at 3,157,360 barrels, the largest in any year since 1923.

ANAHEIM BUYS 600 POUNDS OF NUTS AS GIFTS

ANAHEIM, Dec. 20.—Six hundred pounds of peanuts are stored in the city hall this week. The popular tubers will be a part of the Christmas treat given by the city to the children of Anaheim Saturday night in the city park. The municipal Christmas tree is an event that is being anticipated by the little folks of the community. Santa Claus will be present and candies, nuts and small gifts will be distributed. Last year nearly 3000 children were present at the affair.

The program, which is to be given in connection with the tree, is to be short and will include the singing of carols and community singing. The exercises will begin at 7 o'clock.

KAISER STILL SAWING: LIVES IN SIMPLICITY

By H. C. BUURMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

DOORN, Holland, Dec. 19.—(UP)—Huis Doorn, large and square, surrounded by its moat and partially hidden by trees makes a beautiful but sad picture in the late autumn and early winter.

There lives the old man who was once Emperor of Germany. He is often alone except for members of "Court" because his comparatively young wife cannot withstand the Dutch climate and is frequently absent for a "cure" in the Netherlands.

But alone or with Princes Herminie Wilhelm leads a very simple life. He rises early, goes for a stroll before he has a simple breakfast at 9 o'clock, works and saws in the woods for two or three hours and comes home for a simple luncheon and a nap. Then follow several hours of indoor work, then tea, more work at his desk and a particularly simple dinner. This dinner is so modest that nearly every visitor leaves with a slightly disappointed feeling.

"To dine with the Kaiser" and to be served with a little meat, potatoes, one vegetable, some pudding and fruit and coffee, is less than most visitors expect. And Wilhelm eats very sparingly. In previous years he used to make the dinners somewhat more extensive, but this occurs now only when there are very special guests. The ex-Kaiser dislikes to put on weight.

Sawing Wood His Hobby
The ex-Kaiser's hobby is still sawing wood and his gardening. The latest work of his hands, in a manner of speaking, is the Rosarium which he presented to Doorn and lies between his grounds and the main road.

A board announces proudly that sweater underneath. He wore brown leggings. The short left arm was held tightly against his body.

The purpose of Wilhelm's visit to the Rosarium was to saw wood.

There are still some trees in one corner of the park and Wilhelm was chopping and sawing them into blocks.

While the workmen are preparing a tree for Wilhelm's attentions I had ample opportunity to study the ex-Emperor of Germany and this is the "Kaiser Wilhelm Rosarium," and informs the public what is allowed and what is not. A solitary keeper in the German greyish-blue uniform paces to and fro. He tells the United Press correspondent in German about his war experiences, how he fought in Mesopotamia with the Turks and on the Italian front. Along the Plave a shell found him. "Nine killed and twenty wounded," he said, "and I still have three big pieces of shell in my leg."

The Rosarium is a small park devoted to many varieties of roses. It is about 100 yards by 300 with an enormous vase in the center. The vase is of Untenberger marble designed by the German Professor Besner and prominently decorated with a crowned "W" and the date 1928. It is of classic type and would be more at home in the Stages Allee in Berlin than simple Doorn.

Witnesses Visit
The United Press correspondent witnessed one of the ex-Kaiser's visits to the Rosarium. It was the first day the park was closed to the public for the winter. Wilhelm was bareheaded, clad in a dark green suit with grey woolen compare him with the man he was ten years ago when he fled into exile.

On November 11, 1918, I was the only journalist to witness the arrival of Wilhelm at Count Benck's castle at Amerongen, Holland, where Wilhelm was exiled more than a year. I smuggled myself into the grounds in one of the Dutch military cars carrying his luggage and secured a "close-up" of this bit of history. From a vantage point behind some trees I saw the ex-Kaiser dismount from the motor car. Before entering the castle he was introduced to several persons and doffed his uniform cap. He did not seem a broken man. He was bronzed and well. He wore himself with the "War Lord" manner and his face wore the wilful expression so well-known from his war photographs. Only one outward detail struck me—the famous pointed mustaches drooped. Perhaps he had not then abandoned hope that he might return to Germany as a monarch.

Hair Snow White
But ten years have counted. His hair is now snow white and his beard is graying fast. The famed erect mustaches disappeared long ago. Now it is an ordinary mustache. His movements still show great vitality but he is heavier and fatter. The face shows more color and the expression is not so severe nor wilful—perhaps jollier. But the lines around the eyes and nose betray the bitterness and disappointment which is deeply buried in his heart. His entire attitude now indicates that he has accepted circumstances as they were forced upon him.

"Sax" Drives Away Thoughts of Cold!

He thought he couldn't play that night, but the cold he'd caught that morning had departed. Most professional people know what really knocks a cold in a few hours; many go through the winter without any trouble from colds. It's a compound that comes in little tablets. Take one, and that first snuffle is just about the last; or several tablets if you've let the cold go until it's serious.

Bumper Navel Crop goes to market

As Christmas approaches, the bumper California Navel crop is pouring into the market.

Let's stop a moment and consider which growers have the best chance of realizing the highest returns that this keenly competitive market will afford. (For no matter how he sells his crop, the price to every grower is directly controlled by the price the fruit will bring in the retail market.)

Taking the fruit, grade for grade and size for size, members of the California Fruit Growers Exchange would appear to be in the most favorable position for these definite reasons:

Because year after year, specific comparative records demonstrate that the market is willing to pay a premium for Exchange fruit, with the season just closed showing the highest returns in history.

Because Sunkist advertising has built up an unrivaled public preference for this brand of Exchange fruit. Marketing authorities agree that the favorable position that Sunkist, as well as the whole citrus industry, occupies in public favor must be attributed in large measure to these twenty-one years of consistent nation-wide educational advertising. Each year has shown increased results over the last.

Because the aggressive international sales organization of the Exchange . . . backed by thirty-four years' experience . . . has more complete market information than any other agency.

Because the Exchange, marketing 75% of the California citrus crop, can regulate the supply reaching the market and take instant advantage of any situation for the benefit of its grower-members.

And finally, because the cost of all Exchange services, including advertising, is less than the marketing cost alone of any other citrus organization.

All these factors will be reflected directly and favorably in the final returns which Exchange growers get from the big crop now going to market.

Grapefruit

What the Exchange is . . . The California Fruit Growers Exchange is a non-profit organization of 11,500 California citrus fruit growers, producing more than 75% of the California citrus crop, operated by and for them on a cooperative basis. Its object is to develop the national and international market for California oranges, lemons and grapefruit, and to provide a marketing organization that will sell the fruit of its members most advantageously and at least expense. Receipts from sales, less only actual cost of operation, are returned to growers. Applications are received through all the Exchange's 105 local packing associations, 22 District Exchanges or at the central office in Los Angeles.

What Famous Users Say About Richfield

RALPH SNODDY

Richfield Gasoline and Richlube Motor Oil were used when I established the present world's record for Unlimited 151 Class Hydroplanes and when I won the famous Duke of York trophy at the International Regatta in England. I have used them exclusively for several years and in my opinion they are the finest gasoline and motor oil made! I enthusiastically recommend Richfield and Richlube for all types of speed craft on land, air or water.

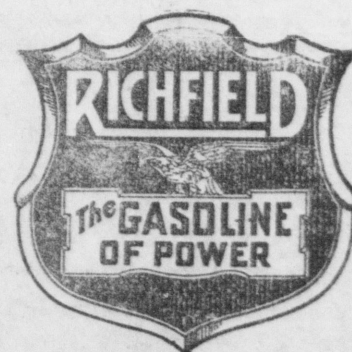

The most daring hydroplane pilot in America today—Ralph Snoddy! Time and again, in this country and abroad, he has risked life and limb in his attempt to better existing speed records. Snoddy's preference for Richfield, his recommendation of Richfield and Richlube for all types of craft is strong endorsement for these famous products.

Richfield products are also used and endorsed by many other famous pilots and designers—such men as Fred Duesenberg, Anthony Fokker, Art Goebel, Allan Loughead, Harry Hartz, Captain Wilkins and Harry Miller—men whose achievements as designers and pilots are internationally recognized.

Richfield's qualities—proved in grueling competitive events—are the same qualities you need in your own motor car—instant speed, power and acceleration without loss of mileage—absolute dependability. What gasoline do you use?

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(UP)—Cash money turned upward today, reaching 7 1/2 per cent, but professional traders tried to bolster up prices throughout the day. They succeeded for a time following a reaction on the increased rate, but toward the close selling was again in evidence with the general list in a more unsettled state than it has been at any close this week.

The opening was firm and prices continued to advance in the first hour with activity great enough to cause elimination of ticker sales toward the end of the first hour profit taking was predominant, but toward noon another rally was underway.

Coppers were strong as a group and demonstrations of strength were given by such leaders as General Electric, Radio and Warner Brothers Pictures. The latter led the Sinclair was an active leader in the reaction.

EVENING SALUTATION

Faith is the continuation of reason.
—William Adams.

WAR AND PEACE IN CONFLICT

It is rather an incongruous contest that is taking place in the United States. The navy bill for the building of fifteen cruisers and the Kellogg peace pact come together in a head-on collision in a spectacular way.

We can well imagine Lloyd George laughing at the situation when we recall the address he so recently delivered in the opening of the campaign of the Liberal party for peace the other day, when he said, putting the words in the mouth of Kellogg: "Thou shalt not kill, but fill your waist belt with knives and pistols so as to be ready to kill."

Of course the incongruity will be brought out with great clarity, and yet men can consistently, in their own minds, vote for both measures, and many of the Senators undoubtedly will. There are those who are profoundly in favor of the settlement of disputes by peaceful means who, at the same time, believe that under present conditions the best means of insuring peace is being reasonably well prepared for any difficulties that might arise. There are those who believe in the settlement of all difficulties by peaceful means, but they believe until that time has been reached and we are living under other conditions we should be prepared to use the methods that are now in vogue. There are those, of course, who believe that the idealism of peace by reason and arbitration will never be the absolute method, and that as between nations, the power of might will be the determining factor.

But the great mass of people in this country and other countries are coming to the conclusion that arming to the teeth, and the double fist are inconsistent with the very spirit and determination for peace, and that the nations must evidence the sincerity of their declarations by their attitude in the expenditure of funds, and in their preparations for the future. Faith in the triumph of their plan must be exercised and some nation must start the real peace program.

The relationship which has existed between Canada and this country for more than a century and illustrations of countries living in peace without armies, such as Switzerland, are vindication of the promise it gives that such a condition is possible.

Vincent Massey, Canadian minister, says that personal contact is the best aid to peace. And, for that matter, Mr. Massey, to war, too.

WHEN IGNORANCE IS NOT BLISS

Newspaper people are familiar with the descriptive term, a "selective newspaper." Other people, while they may comprehend the term are often not fully aware of the grave public injustice done by a "selective newspaper."

It is comforting to newspaper people, however, to observe that there is a public appreciation of the contrary policy of printing all the news in a paper which can possibly be crowded in. The New York World which has developed into a "selective newspaper" has been losing circulation. It had on October 1, last, 14,000 readers fewer than on October 1, 1923 and the evening edition lost 22,099 readers in twelve months. During 1927 the morning World lost 2,209,955 agate lines of advertising as contrasted with 1926 and it has continued to lose advertising in 1928.

There may be said to be three types of newspapers, the "selective newspaper," the "yellow" newspaper, and the newspaper which prints as much of the news as it can possibly crowd into its pages.

The newspaper of the first class is of little real value to men and women who want to keep informed on the affairs of the world, the nation, and the country. The most popular deletions from the newspaper are the omissions of scandals, and murders. Yet if some notice was not made of these terrible crimes public officials susceptible to bribery would back and thrive in the shadows the public press, by its omissions, would cast upon them. On the other hand, dwelling on the details of the crimes of diseased minds and bodies, which crop up occasionally, is fit matter only for psychopathic journals.

Those who want the "selective journal" for their children or because they themselves are not willing to see the nation's life reflected as in a mirror, will find the finest example in the Christian Science Monitor. For the children there is the little magazine "Current Events" and the "Literary Digest." But those of us who are grown up and have assumed the responsibilities of citizenship should select a newspaper which will enable us to keep an eye on the whole gamut of human events, including law enforcement, officials to observe whether criminals are being prosecuted, whether people are being made to respect the law or to snap their fingers at it and to make sure that one's own community is not going the way of Chicago, for example.

Oh, well, if you must, do your shopping early on Christmas Eve.

A PROMOTION

E. A. Stewart, formerly associate professor of agricultural engineering at the University of Minnesota, had an eye to the future when he did services for utility companies on the side. While he was a member of the faculty of that university, Professor Stewart took pay for his time and expenses in attending various power conferences. For going to the World Power Conference in Switzerland, he received $500 a month for two months and $485 toward his expenses.

Two years ago he visited Ontario and made an unfavorable report on the government-owned power system. Although errors and misstatements were called to his attention before the report was published, no corrections were made.

He has been promoted by the utility company from the faculty of the university to the presidency of the Northwestern Public Utilities Company. Quite evidently he is now happy because he can devote himself fully to those interests which he formerly had to share with his duties in connection with the University of Minnesota.

A LOST OPPORTUNITY

An article in the December Theater Magazine by Walter Prichard Eaton charging that the theater has forgotten Christmas, has the peculiar and unhappy connection of "hindsight" being better than foresight, in the light of the news of the thousands of actors and actresses walking the streets of New York searching for jobs.

"Once a year, at least," he says, "we are all honestly sentimental and well-disposed toward our neighbors, and tolerant of the older generation or sympathetic with the very youngest, and given to memories of sleighbells and candles, plum puddings, and grandmothers, and other nice forgotten things. Who wants, when this spirit is over him, to hear a bunch of hard-boiled Chicago reporters toss about foul language like longshoremen or to witness a bored wife cracking her spouse over the head with a lethal bottle, or to take the children, for a happy spree, to any of the other interesting exhibitions of arson, murder, rapine and infidelity by which the holiday is celebrated on our stage?"

So, since the theater has nothing better to offer, people spend their last available cents on Christmas gifts and go home to the children and the stage suffers. This year thousands of actors will have no Christmas.

But on the other hand, how much might have been made of the season? What profits for managers, and jobs for actors by a season of plays which would fit the spirit of the year, such as revivals of old favorites to call forth the lovely memories, and others which would draw happy merriment from the children.

Mr. Eaton doesn't think it possible, he doesn't think there are actors and actresses any more who could do it. "Tinker Bell," he says, "has drunk the poison, and there is none to save her by shouting his belief in fairies."

The book publishers have made their appeal to the Christmas trade. Advertisements and bulletins and prospect of children's books have been pouring in for two months. But the theater has overlooked the golden opportunity of entering into the Christmas spirit in a way that would meet response from the public. The managers are poor psychologists. It would have been simple indeed to ask themselves what it is the public wants at this season and then give it to them. If they had, more actors and actresses might have jobs at this season. And the most regrettable part of it all is that the children would not require costly scenery, a few gay costumes of gauze and tinsel and a world of make believe, that is all.

Mussolini or the Duce?

Christian Science Monitor

On the eve of the meeting of the "Big Three" at Lugano to smooth the way to lasting peace, and of the debate in the United States Senate on the Pact of Paris, Benito Mussolini made a speech before the Italian Chamber of Deputies which has produced a disturbing effect among those who base great hopes upon the Briand-Kellogg document. He said that Italy signed the pact because "we absolutely do not want it said that the world would be swimming in milk and honey, that this planet which we inhabit would be a paradise, but that all this beautiful feast had been spoiled by Fascist imperialism." Therefore, he would sign the treaty and then see that Italy was properly armed, that it had greatly increased armaments on sea and in the air. This latter task would be essayed as soon as Italy had passed its period of "convalescence."

It is difficult to see what the Duce hopes to achieve by such a decision, by placing his faith in arms rather than on a peace of the pen. Pre-war days are still vivid in the thoughts of men. Then the cry of preparedness was heard on all sides. But it only engendered suspicion, doubt and ill-feeling. To revive that cry is to stir up old animosities, to defeat the very purpose for which the leaders of nations are striving. But those who know the other side of Mussolini will hope that his words constitute a mere gesture, that he is assuming the pose of the Duce, and that it is not the true Premier of Italy who is speaking. Otherwise his friends may come to believe that he has lost faith in humanity.

Supply and Demand

New York Times

Economists, legislators and business men have spent much thought on the problems of supply and demand. Endless inventions, legal and mechanical, have been applied to the job of harnessing them. But it took a Chinaman to find the simplest method of persuading this lion and lamb to lie down together.

He had a small bakeshop in Foochow where he sold cakes and confections of excellent quality. His marshmallows were so particularly fine that when foreigners in the city discovered them the demand went up by leaps and bounds. Try as he would, he could not make enough to supply his hungry customers. Something had to be done. So he shut up shop altogether.

He must have been sorry to see a good baking business ruined by a run on marshmallows. Had he only been familiar with the advertising campaign, now raging in New York City with the slogan, "When the sweets are passed, reach for a Lucky," he might have salvaged his business and earned the thanks of neighboring tobaccoists.

His Chinese theory of economics is not altogether unknown in this country. A storekeeper in a small New England town, when asked by a Summer visitor to supply turkey red calico, replied, "Any other color but that. There's so much call for it that I've given up trying to keep it in stock."

Kemal Lives Despite Turkish Witch Curses

San Francisco Chronicle

Out of the spotlight for quite a while Kemal Pasha comes back with his order to round up the witch women of Turkey, remnants of the once powerful group of Medicine Women who persist in practicing their arts in defiance of a government edict against them. Kemal is not hanging his witches as they were hanged at Salem, for he does not believe in witches. He calls them for pretending to be witches, and the best proof that they are fakes is the failure of the curses they put upon his officials to make them shrivel up and blow away to the Mohammedan Gehenna. It puts the Turkish witch in the same fix as a fortune teller whose familiar spirits fail to warn her that the client is a policeman about to arrest her. Yet Kemal's campaign against the witches will have no more lasting effect than any other attack upon superstition and gullibility when made by law alone. So long as superstitious people exist there will be some to prey upon them. When enlightenment takes the place of superstition witches will be out of a job.

EDUCATION AND THE SCREEN

Professors have found with alarm and concern That dear little Sister and Buddy Learn faster from films than they ever will learn From the books they are given to study. It is found that in matters which deal with the screen The youngsters abnormally smart are; They may not know who was Napoleon's queen But they know who Doug and Bill Hart are.

They take little interest in Butcher and Lang Preferring to chat through their lessons Of the quick trigger stunts of the Bowery Gang And the crack of their big Smith and Wessons. They find in the raids that are led by Tom Mix More zip and more genuine glamor Than in all of arithmetic's brain-tangling tricks And in all of the puzzles of grammar.

And therefore the worried instructors whose trade Is to make the old school entertaining Have thought that the film might become a first aid In our youth's educational training. With movies portraying historical scenes They hope they may waken a yearning In millions of eager and sly little beans For the erudite branches of learning.

But a film of the gentlemen sitting around And discussing a league or a treaty Will not by the average urchin be found As either absorbing or meaty. The kids will find scenes of historical lore Not even a little exciting When they know they can find in the film house next door A rattling good picture of fighting.

Dr. Frank Crane's Friendly Talk

By Dr. Frank Crane

THE AFTERMATH OF TROUBLE

All our life we spend in dodging troubles. Nobody wants to meet them. And when we do meet them we complain and are rather sorry for ourselves. It does no good to deny them. Troubles are only too real and they come to all of us, whether by our own fault or by that of some one else.

As a matter of fact, when we are through with this world and become inhabitants of the next we will probably consider that the best thing that ever happened to us down here was trouble, for we learn more from our bitter experiences than we learn from the pleasant ones.

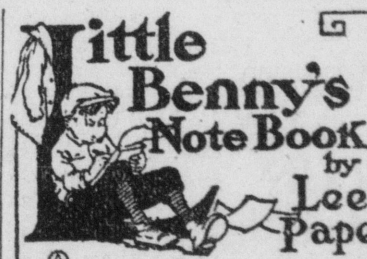

We spend all our lives running away from the thing that does us the most good. But, after all, there is not necessarily benefit in trouble. It all depends on how you take it, on the aftermath, in other words.

Trouble leaves some people bitter and resentful or despairing. Some are induced to commit suicide because of their many troubles. All sorts of other foolish things are done because of our afflictions.

And then there are some who gain poise and good nature, fortitude and prudence because of their mishaps. Some of the finest natures I have known have been due to a long and hard course in the school of difficulties. They have come out of their experience chastened and improved.

One of the bravest and most cheerful women I ever knew has had trouble enough all her life. She has been forced to make a brave front and today is courageous and cheery in spite of everything. The question is, therefore, not how we are going to keep out of trouble, but what is the aftermath it will leave in us. The strongest and most resourceful men are those who have come successfully through the school of trial and conflict. Some of the most useless and vapid people are those who have been carefully shielded from difficulty all through their lives.

The problem, therefore, is not be a good trouble dodger, but to be a good trouble user.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

THE PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS

The drafters of the Declaration of Independence considered life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness three important and inalienable rights that should never be denied to a people.

They thought the political arrangements of a nation should guarantee these three rights to its people.

I suppose most of us would agree that neither life nor liberty is worth much unless it results not only in the pursuit but in the achievement of happiness.

But the drafters of the Declaration of Independence were quite right in limiting the duty of government to the guaranty of the right to live and to be free and to pursue happiness.

Government cannot guarantee a result; it can only give us the chance to pursue desirable objectives.

Living people may commit suicide. Free people may subject themselves to a thousand slaveries that are self-inflicted.

People with the right to pursue happiness may blunder in the pursuit.

Certainly the achievement of happiness is not a thing that can be guaranteed by political arrangements; this is a personal rather than a political problem.

After government has stood guard over our right to pursue happiness, we must perfect a personal technique of pursuit.

There is really such a thing as a technique of happiness, and it is not the superficial and smirking philosophy of "Pack up your troubles in your old kit bag and smile, smile, smile," but the sober counsel of scientific psychology.

Happiness is a by-product of an intelligent adjustment of our habits of thinking and working to our mental and physical make-up and to our job.

If we are indulging in mental and emotional activities that run at cross purpose to our mental and emotional nature we are unhappy; we must manage to think and work and feel "our way" if we would be happy.

We must achieve poise in our work if we are to be happy; the man who works in a fussy and feverish fashion is usually a victim of fatigue and worry.

If we could only induce our greatest psychologists to rescue us from the "pep" and "Polynesian" charlatans by giving us, out of their responsible researches, sound advice in this business of perfecting a technique of pursuing happiness! Copyright 1928 McClure News'pr. Syn.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

COMPANY DAY

One of the innumerable things children have to learn is how to live with other people, how to meet them pleasantly, how to ride easily over the little swells of irritation and stress that are forever rising in this troubled life.

Some experiences they gather within the home. They learn how to meet father's irritability and mother's excitement, or father's excitement and mother's fears. They learn how to soothe Uncle's quick temper and evade Aunt Abbie's prying eye. But the family circle, though rich in experiences of this kind, is not enough. There is another circle and another and beyond them many more, in which the children must learn to live and move easily if they are to live successfully.

It is best to begin with the children closest to them. Make a child of inviting other children to play in the yard. Teach the hosts to do their part toward making things pleasant for their guests. Let the children take their turn at being guests so that they learn the old truth that it requires as much grace to receive a courtesy as it does to extend one.

From the amenities of the playground graduate them to those of the afternoon party where delicate sandwiches and very soft drinks are served by the host or hostesses.

Try to allow the children to share in the preparation. They can polish little plates. They can fold paper napkins. Of course the guests are limited in number and chosen with discretion.

When the children go to school they make friends. This is to be encouraged because the power to make friends, to maintain friendships, is of the greatest importance to the child's mental and physical well being. Some mistakes will be made in choosing these friends but if parents are wise no direct attack will ever be made on the choice. All friends are to be welcomed and entertained to the schedule. If the chosen one is not the right one the atmosphere and the resulting unsatisfying experiences will soon adjust the situation.

For the older children, those in junior high school or high school, there should be at least one evening set apart for entertaining company. The children are to understand that they are always at home that evening. That they have a share in the entertaining if it be but a listening share. Sometimes the guests are to be grownups who are good for the children to know. At other times they are to be children of their own age, friends and acquaintances closely associated with them in school or society.

Make those company days as educative as possible. Let the children
